Nazi Army Revolt Gains; Hitler Purging Generals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LONDON, July 21—Two German divisions were reported today to have revolted in Russian-besieged East Prussia and a full-blown purge of generals apparently was proceeding in Germany as an aftermath to what Adolf Hitler called a traitorous attempt to assassinate him and pave the way for surrender.

With broken communications masking what perhaps was civil war and mutiny within the Reich, the Berlin radio announced that Col. Gen. Ludwig Beck, former chief of the German general staff, was "no longer among living persons." He presumably was shot in the fiery vengeance Hitler was venting upon his own people.

At the same time a traveler reaching Sweden said that two German divisions revolted in East Prussia on Wednesday, apparently touching off the movement which culminated in the attack on Hitler, declared by Berlin to have occurred Thursday.

Heinrich Himmler, the ace hangman, apparently had thrown his Gestapo into the task of bloodily purging all those sympathetic with rebellious army officers who, Hitler declared, had tried to kill him.

Besides Beck, Berlin announced execution of a whole group of conspirators linked with the plot to overthrow the Fuehrer and prepare the path for peace in the defeat-riddled and bomb-tortured Reich.

Among them was Col. Count von Stauffenberg, who was alleged to have planted a bomb which exploded only a little over six feet from Hitler while he was surrounded by his highest personal military aides.

Deputy Press Chief Sunderman declared in connection with Beck's demise that there was "proof that a connection was established with an enemy power" and that "the enemy staked much on this attempt," Berlin broadcasts said.

Beck was removed as chief of the general staff in November, 1938, because, Berlin dispatches stated at the time, "he failed to see eye to eye with Hitler."

RUNDSTEDT OUT AGAIN

He was reported to have disagreed with the Fuehrer's plans to seize Austria and Czechoslovakia.

Field Marshal Gen. Karl Rudolf Gerd von Rundstedt was removed as commander of an army group at the same time. Von Rundstedt, restored to favor in the war, was removed from his command in Western Europe only a few days ago.

Stockholm newspapers were cut off from their Berlin correspondents at 8:40 last night, and communications still were blocked today. Other sources of neutral information from inside Germany likewise were blocked.

The world therefore was restricted largely to views put forth by Berlin and other German-controlled broadcasts.

While these sought to give the picture of a completely normal Germany, with the plot scotched, other bits of information indicated the revolt was still on.

The "Atlantic" radio supposedly operated inside Germany, declared "revolution has burst forth in Germany" and "part of the eastern army is deserting and returning from the front."

Allied propagandists bombarded the Reich with broadcasts urging the Germans to deal the death blow to the Hitler Regime.

KEITEL UNINJURED

New bits of information relayed by Gerline on the incident in which Hitler was said to have been burned and bruised by an explosion included the Berlin announcement the one man fatally injured in Hitler's circle was a press stenographer. He previously had been identified as "Collaborator Berger."

Field Marshal Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, was among top-ranking generals conferring with Hitler at the time, Berlin asserted, but he escaped harm. Twelve other aides were injured, however.

London quarters said there was now convincing evidence to support recent rumors of increasing dissatisfaction with Hitler's authority and that opposition to Nazism apparently had been organized under responsible leadership.

COL. GEN. LUDWIG BECK
Executed for Part in Plot

The strongest indication that Himmler, despite the sweeping powers conferred on him by Hitler, had not yet completely liquidated the outbreak was the rupture in neutrals' communications with Germany.

This interruption was similar to the break Wednesday night which presaged yesterday's news.

In London doubt persisted that the Germans had given anywhere nearly a full account—and there was considerable doubt that even a bonafide attempt was made on Hitler's life.

JUST A PURGE PLAN?

The possibility was not overlooked that the whole thing was elaborately staged to give the Himmler-Hitler team an excuse for a full-scale purge of Junkers generals before they could really get their movement in motion.

Speeches by Hitler, Reichsmarshal Goering and Adm. Karl Doenitz, commander of the German navy, berating traitorous generals were the surest signs of revolt, even if abortive, within the Reich.

The question was whether it would be snowballed or crushed by the purge. There was a possibility it might grow as the militarists sought to save themselves by resisting the Gestapo.

It was felt here that Nazis had two choices—to try to hush up the incident or to twist the facts into propaganda and create an emotional story on the home front. The fact that the latter course was chosen suggested a revolt of such dimensions it could not be concealed.

PLEA FROM RUSSIA

The Soviet-sponsored Free Germany Committee in Moscow broadcast an appeal to all Germans to "overthrow Hitler and save the fatherland at this last moment," adding that "it may be assumed that the open struggle (within Germany) continues in its most acute form and that valuable key positions have already been seized from bankrupt Nazi bosses."

Nazi leaders made fervent efforts to rally the home front.

Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, old-time Nazi party member and former minister of civil administration in occupied territory in the East, wrote in a special edition of the Volkischer Beobachter the assassination attempt was "the opening of hostilities on the fifth front—the head and heart of the German war commands."

Gen. Nikolaus von Valkenhorst, commander-in-chief in Norway, issued an orler of the day to his troops expressing gratitude for Hitler's escape and pledging to "follow him until victory is won."

He was the first army general to join Doenitz and Goering in pledging continued loyalty to Hitler. Doenitz and Goering had

Revolt Seen In Luftwaffe

The German air force is fertile ground for the anti-Hitler movement.

The Luftwaffe, already pretty much slowed down by Allied air superiority, is now operating with many of its officers suspected of being involved in the revolt.

Reichmarshal Goering himself revealed this in his radio speech when he said his officers had been instructed to seek confirmation from him or Col. Gen. Stumpf of any orders of a doubtful nature they might receive from their superiors.

The situation has apparently reached the stage where everyone is suspecting everyone else.

Confirmation of a report of a revolt of German divisions also appears in Goering's address. He said:

"These are the self-same curs who tried to betray and sabotage the front."

Killer Himmler In Biggest Role

By The Associated Press

Human life is cheap to Heinrich Himmler, bespectacled executioner who has been named by Hitler as commander-in-chief inside Germany, a role for which Himmler long has been preparing and in effect assumed last September.

Every day, somewhere in Nazi territory, firing squads take their toll. The death figures have run into the scores of thousands, and it is Himmler and his blackshirted SS elite guards and Gestapo agents who are held responsible by the Allied world.

Russians, Poles, Czechs, Yugoslavs, French and many other nationalities are among his victims but German nationals also have fallen because of Himmler. The killings in Germany are not much publicized. Those revealed to the public are held up as examples.

It was the cold-eyed Himmler who ordered the massacre of all residents of the Czech village of Lidice in reprisal for the assassination of his right hand aide, Reinhard Heydrich, in June, 1942. Thousands of Czechs were executed because of the death of "Hangman" Heydrich.

For several years Himmler has been recruiting heavily for his "civil war army." He has perhaps the most sinister spy network in the world. His Gestapo branches are large in every dominated land, and perhaps as big in Germany today as in any other country.

Himmler is the most powerful figure aside from the badly-shaken Hitler.

Goering said to detest Himmler, now has bowed completely to his authority. Goering in his speech last night ordered all air commanders to give Himmler every assistance, and added: "Dispatch flights can be carried out only with my or his permission."

Revolt Bulletins

LONDON, July 21 (AP)—A German transocean news agency (propaganda) broadcast said today that "certain precautionary measures" were taken last night in the center of Berlin.

LONDON, July 21 (INS)—The Stockholm-Aftenbladet reported today that German SS units are marching toward Berlin to maintain order.

LONDON, July 21 (INS)—Berlin residents went to work calmly today and everything looks normal, DNB reported. Everyone is talking about the "latest events," and snapping up newspapers.

LIVERPOOL, July 21 (INS)—Reports of widespread unrest within the Reich touched off such a display of strength in the markets of the stock exchange in Liverpool today that "the prices became too unstable to quote," Reuter's reported.

LONDON, July 21 (AP)—Foreign Minister Anthony Eden was besieged with questions about the situation in Germany when Commons convened today, but replied that he had "no information at present which extends beyond that in possession of all the members."

U. S. Lands on Scarred Guam

By CHARLES McMURTRY

PEARL HARBOR, July 21 (AP)—United States marines and infantry are pouring ashore on Guam, first American territory seized by the Japanese, and fighting their way inland under cover of a pulverizing aerial and warship bombardment, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today. The landings, a quick follow-up to the great victory on Saipan, started yesterday, and "are continuing against moderate ground opposition," Nimitz' communique said.

"United States Marines and Army assault troops established beachheads on Guam Island on July 20 (U. S. time) with the support of carrier aircraft and surface combat units of the fifth fleet," the early-morning communique continued.

"Enemy deefnses are being heavily bombed and shelled at close range."

Guam is the southernmost and largest of the Marianas group of islands. In American hands it will greatly strengthen Saipan's position as a base from which Japan can be mortally assaulted. Guam is 130 miles southwest of Saipan and both islands are within Superfortress range of Tokyo and the whole of Japan.

17-DAY HAMMERING

The Philippines, lying 1500 miles west of Guam and Saipan, likewise are vulnerable to the mighty forces Nimitz is hurling across the Pacific.

The Guam landings came after 17 days of the most terrific warship-plane blasting given any invaded Pacific island, with battleships adding their heavy shells to the torrent of explosives poured from cruisers, destroyers and planes.

Guam, seized two days after Pearl Harbor presumably will offer the same bitter, bloody resistance the Marines and Army troops encountered on Saipan in 25 days of fighting. It was believed the Guam garrison was as strong as Saipan's, which consisted of more than 20,000 troops on D-Day, June 14. The Americans had to kill 95 per cent of that force before gaining victory.

DEFENDERS HAVE EDGE

But in the interior the Americans will encounter the same hills, caves and crevices which gave Saipan's defenders a tremendous edge over the attackers.

Guam, 32 miles long and four to ten miles wide, was overrun by 8000 Japanese troops who stormed ashore against 200 Marines in the early days of the war.

The island has one of the Pacific's finest harbors, Apra, and formerly served as a way-station on the trans-Pacific airroute to the East. Its area is about 225 square miles.

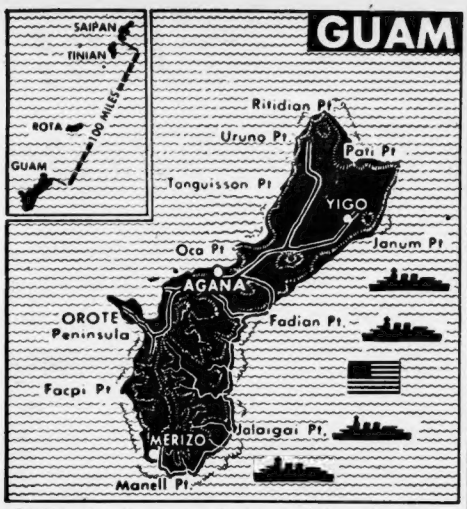
New battleships, packing the heaviest firepower of any of the world's ships, stood in close to shell the island for four days, while other warships attacked for nine days. Carrier planes hit hard for 17 days.

Anti-aircraft fire from the Japanese steadily dwindled until it stopped after the July 16 strike. Shore fire was last seen July 15.

U. S. PASSED UP ISLANDS

The Marianas Islands were discovered by Magellan in 1521. After the Spanish-American war the U. S. could have taken all the Marianas had it chose, but it kept only Gaum. Instead, Germany paid Spain $5,000,000 for the remaining Marianas and other Pacific islands.

During the first World War Japan seized them and after the war acquired a mandate over them.



GUAM—American forces today have landed on the island of Guam, seized by the Japanese on Dec. 10, 1941. After 17 days' aerial bombardment Yanks poured ashore to drive the Nippon invaders from the 625 square miles of the brush and tree-studded mountainous American possession.

RUSSIA—Red army forces plunge to within 50 miles of (1) Lubin and reach a point only two hours marching time from East Prussia in a drive (2) west of Grodno. Other Russian columns took (3) Rawa-Ruska and Doroshev in the Lwow area, threatened Brest Litovsk and captured Skapiskis and Panemunelis, cutting (4) the Nazi escape rail route from Daugavpils.

British Gain Beyond Caen

By KINGSBURY SMITH

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, July 21 (INS)—The British Second Army, hurling waves of infantry forces in against the Germans behind strong tank units, pressed their advance beyond the Normandy communications center of Caen today to seize additional strategic high ground.

Headquarters of Gen. Eisenhower announced the British had extended their hold of high ground below Caen from the Orne river to the vicinity of Verrieres, and one spearhead was eight miles beyond Caen.

ADMIT GAINS

(The Nazi agency DNB admitted the British continued to press ahead east of the Orne and succeeded in gaining some ground. (Violent fighting was reported to have flared up between Americans and Germans east of the Carentan-Periers road.

(DNB said Rommel had brought up new troops getting their baptism of fire to meet the Allied offensive.)

The expanded British front now runs all along the Orne river from captured Faubourg de Vaucelles to opposite St. Andre.

TROARN ADVANCE

The Germans still clung to St. Martin.

Deepest British penetration south of Caen, headquarters said, reached a point about 1000 yards west of Verrieres, which the Germans still hold.

North of Troarn the British advanced 1000 yards to Westboures.

Southwest of Caen the Allies gained control of Noyers and Esquay. Neither side was in the towns of Evrecy and Bougy.

A headquarters spokesman said no American troops at the western end of the front were south of the Ay river, where strong German garrisons are established.

Deepest American penetration west of the Vire river was said to have been made at Rampan.

Allies Closing In on Florence

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

ROME, July 21 (INS)—Allied armies continued to press the Germans back all along the transpeninsula front today, with the British occupying Mone San Michele, 15 miles south of Florence.

Troops of the Fifth Army advanced to the outskirts of Castel Florentino, 17 miles southwest of Florence.

South of Pisa near the west coast the Germans offered stiff resistance to American Fifth Army troops.

Eastward on the Adriatic secor Polish troops of the Eighth Army, driving northwest from the Esino river, gained several mile across difficult county. They moved forward in pursuit of German unis withdrawing northwest of Ancona.

An improvemen in the weather enabled the Allies to step up the march toward the German Gothic defense line from above Pisa on the west coast to Rimini on the Adriatic.

In the upper Tiber valley the Eighth Army closed around Citta di Castello.

Stocks Weaken On Peace Hints

NEW YORK, July 21 (INS)—The stock market opening was the weakest in months today as the Berlin and Tokyo developments brought rumors of early peace. Many speculators lightened accounts.

U. S. Steel fell a dollar a share with 3500 shares being traded on the first deal. Bethlehem Stel lost 75 cents a share and Chrysler 50 cents, all large changes for initial transactions.

Reds Dig Deep Into Lithuania

By DANIEL DE LUCE

MOSCOW, July 21 (AP)—The Red Army seized a deadly stranglehold on the Germans' Baltic front deep inside Lithuania today, hurled a massive blow toward Warsaw and sealed the fate of Lwow.

Pouring across the trans-Lithuanian railway, Soviet forces captured the junction of Skopishki, 50 miles west of Daugavpils, 85 miles southeast of Riga and 165 miles east of Memel.

Warsaw, a little more than 100 miles from the Red Army vanguard, was the objective of concerted attacks west of the Nazis' broken Bug river line.

The Nazi garrison at Lwow was doomed, with the Russians five miles away in the suburb of Doroshev. It faced the same kind of disaster that overtook more than four German divisions encircled earlier in the week at Brody, 35 miles northeast, where they are now being annihilated.

The first Ukranian front offensive engulfed the rail junction of Rawa Ruska, 30 miles northwest of Lwow, and over 300 settlements.

For 60 miles along the Bug river from captured Opalin to Sokal, the Red Army scored new gains.

Acutely endangered were Brest Litovsk and Lublin Nazi rearguards in the railroad town of Korbee Kobryn, 27 miles northeast of Brest Litovsk, have been liquidated.

2000 U. S. Planes Still Rock Reich

LONDON, July 21 (AP)—An American fleet of nearly 2000 planes flew above a howling channel northeaster today and attacked Germany for the fourth consecutive day, striking Regensberg,Schweinfurt and a number of other targets.

More than 1100 heavy bombers and ound 1000 fighters formed the armada.

The Germans reported simultaneous raids by another big American fleet from Italy, duplicating the co-ordinated assaults of the previous three days.

During the squally night 1000 RAF heavy bombers pummeled objectives in Germany, France and Belgium, losing 31 planes. Major rail yards of Courttai bottlenecking three trunk lines leading to the Normandy battlefields were targets, with German oil plants at Homberg and Bortrop-Wilheim in the Ruhr, the port of Hamburg, robot bomb platforms in northern France and road convoys north and south of Paris.

Wallace Banks on CIO in Fight

By JACK BELL

CHICAGO, July 21 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace matched a CIO-wielded vote bloc against Sen. Harry Truman's big town and Southern backing today in a climactic battle for the Democratic Vice-Presidential nomination. President Roosevelt gave the struggle new campaign importance by calling global warfare—not politics—his main business between now and November.

Renominated noisily and overwhelmingly by a packed convention that booed the mention of opposing candidates, the President told his Democratic followers and the world at large by radio last night that he will not run for office in the usual political sense.

"In these days of tragic sorrow, I do not consider it fitting," the President's voice rolled out over the loud speakers. "I shall, however, feel free to report to the people the facts about matters of concern to them and especially to correct any misrepresentations."

WALLACE LEADS FIGHT

The President, who has given the nod to three potential running mates—Wallace, Truman and Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas—said nothing more about the second place contest. But the inference was broad that the No. 2 man must carry the political load.

Weary delegates elbowing into the Stadium for their final session found Wallace, always a shock of unruly hair hanging over his right eye, personally leading a crusading battle for what he termed "liberalism" and his own renomination.

Behind the scenes well-trained CIO members hacked away at opposition strength in state delegations under the direction of Sidney Hillman.

Lined up behind Truman were National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan and such big city organization chieftains as Edward J. Flynn, New York national committeeman; Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, and Mayor Edward Kelly of Chicago. The Truman camp also had Southern backing.

WALLACE CLAIMS 316½

Arkansas' 20, Louisiana's 22 and Missouri's 32 votes definitely were Truman's on the first ballot, in addition to any that organization leaders might be able to produce. Wallace had 316½ claimed and pledged of the 589 needed to nominate.

While these two looked like the first ballot leaders, there were others who could not be forgotten. Senate Majority Leader Barkley had Kentucky's 24 votes and unestimated strength elsewhere. Sen. Scott Lucas, looked upon as a probable Kelly-backed darkhorse if Truman could not make it, was supported by Illinois' 58.

The Truman forces figured on three ballots. The first to let home state choices be registered and to gauge the strength of the leaders. The second to demonstrate which leader was rising, which falling. The third to clinch the nomination.

GUFFEY ASSAILS LETTER

The Vice President's backers took in stride the disclosure yesterday by Hannegan of a "Dear Bob" letter from Mr. Roosevelt which said the President would be "very glad to run" with either Truman or Douglas and expressed the belief that either of them would bring strength to the ticket.

Coming out of a midnight conference in which the Wallace strategists figured themselves into more than 500 votes on the first ballot, Sen. Joseph Guffey of Pennsylvania told reporters:

"I think the letter was a fundamental error. It will nominate Wallace."

Gallon a Day Furlough Gas

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP) A member of the armed forces after next Tuesday can get a gallon of gas for every day of his furlough from three to 30 days long, the office of Price Administration ruled today.

Previous limit was five gallons for a furlug, regardless of length.

No ration is to be granted for leaves or furloughs of less than three days.

French Destroy Huge Munition Dump

LONDON, July 21 (AP)—French patriots at Crugey blew up munition dumps supplying all German air force bases in eastern France between June 19 and 22, authoritative French informants in London said.

Approximately 10,000 tons of munitions in more than 7000 rail cars were reported destroyed.

Fala Tipped Many FDR Was Touring

A PACIFIC COAST NAVAL BASE(July 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt accepted nomination for a fourth term from a special train deep inside this mighty naval base.

Accompanied by his top military aides, he reached this base Wednesday night after a six-day transcontinental trip which was locked in the secrecy of military security.

Only a few hundred people saw the presidential train as it moved through 16 states. Few of those who happened to see the train managed to guess the identity of its No. 1 passenger. He never let himself be seen.

The President's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

The party left Washington the night of July 13, accompanied by news service reporters, spent the next day at the Roosevelt home in Hyde Park, N. Y., where Mrs. Roosevelt joined the group, then made an overnight journey to Chicago. From then on the route cannot be told because of wartime security regulations.

With the President were Adm. Leahy, Maj. Gen. Edwin M. Watson, military aide; Adm. Wilson Brown, naval aide; Adm. McIntire, physician, and Samuel I. Eosenman, special counsel.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, OWI director, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

Dewey Gets Information On Russia From Johnston

ALBANY, July 21 (AP)—First hand information on conditions and thought in wartime Russia becomes available to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today through the visit of Eric A. Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Johnston, here for an afternoon conference, returned recently from Moscow where he engaged in conversations with Stalin.

It was also expected his talk with Dewey would touch upon reconversion of industry from a wartime to a peacetime basis, a subject which the Governor indicated this week would be a major Republican issue in the campaign.

Meanwhile Dewey, withholding comment on the nomination of President Roosevelt, conferred with National Republican Chairman Herbert Brownell, Jr., his campaign manager. They took time out to listen together to the broadcast of the President's acceptance speech.

Brownell said he discussed with Dewey plans for various offices in the national committee campaign setup and personnel to head them, and the details of a trip which he, as national chairman, will make soon.

Dewey was to leave Albany by auto in late afternoon to spend the weekend at his farm near Pawling.

Bay State Enjoys Improved Health

Massachusetts is enjoying excellent health compared with past years, according to statistics announced today by Dr. Vlado A. Getting, State health commissioner.

The outstanding example of improvement was indicated by figures on infantile paralysis. Dr. Getting said only four cases were reported in the first six months compared yith 15 in the same period last year. During 1943, 252 cases yere reported.

Dr. Getting also disclosed there was a "marked drop" in diphtheria after an unusually high number of cases the past nine months. He reported only 7 cases last monht.

Chicken pox and mumps were the only two classes which were higher this year than last. In the first six months there were 16,882 chicken pox cases reported. During June, there were 966 mumps compared with 611 in June, 1943.

$50,000 McCarthy Bail In Pepper Martin Killing

John C. "Jack" McCarthy of Roxbury, former heavyweight boxer, was ordered held in $25,000 double surety bail today when ar raigned in Roxbury court on a charge of being an accessory after the fact in the murder of Pepper Martin, 44, ex-convict and gambler, whose bullet-ridden body was found in a parked automobile in the Back Bay four days ago.

Philip A. Chapman, the defendant's attorney, pleaded vainly with Judge Frankland W. L. Miles for lower bail.

"I'm refusing to reduce bail," Judge Miles said, "on the appeal made by Capt. Thomas Harvey of the Back Bay station. "He says he wants this man available at all times."

McCarthy was ordered to further hearing July 31, as were three other men, each of whom was held in $5000 bail as a material witness. They are John Riley of Linden pk., South Boston, garage night watchman who found the body; Raymond Read, garage night manager, and Louis Baione of Acton st., South End, in whose machine the body of the victim was found.

Counsel for Baione also was unsuccessful in obtaining lower bail for his client, despite the plea that the South End man was working at a Hingham war plant and operating a pig farm at Franklin as well.

Meanwhile, funeral services for Martin, whose right name was Yapran Alajajian, were scheduled today at St. James Armenian Church, Watertown.

Grant Actress Annulment, To Wed Harmon as Catholic

DETROIT, July 21 (AP)—The Michigan Catholic, official publication of the Catholic archdiocese of Detroit, said today in a copyrighted story that Lt. Tom Harmon of the Army Air Forces and Movie Actress Elyse Knox would be married Aug. 26 in Ann Arbor.

The paper said the ceremony uniting the former University of Michigan All-American football player and the Hollywood actress would be performed in St. Mary's student chapel with the Rev. Frank J. McPhillips celebrating nuptial high mass. Fr. McPhillips is chaplain for Catholic students at the university.

The Michigan Catholic, a weekly, went on to say that the matrimonial court of the Los Angeles archdiocese had given Miss Knox an annulment from a previous marriage that ended in divorce and that she was received into the Catholic church six weeks ago.

Miss Knox was divorced March 25,1943, from her first husband, Paul Heese, 46, a photographer. She is 26 years old. This will be Harmon's first marriage. He is 24.

Their romance received wide attention when Harmon came home on furlough. The former gridiron star's experiences as a flier included a crash in a South American jungle and being shot down in action over China. In each instance many days passed before he found his way to safety.

Son Finds Mother Severely Injured

Suffering from a deep laceration in her left leg, which required 12 stitches at Cambridge City Hospital, Mrs. Mary Ahlberg, 73, of Clark st., Cambridge, was found unconscious in the kitchen of her home yesterday by a son, Carl, during an unexpected visit.

Police said they found a blood-stained hand-axe in the kitchen and expressed the opinion Mrs. Ahlberg accidentally cut her leg while chopping wood for the stove. From the condition of the wound, police were of the belief the accident happened 48 hours before.

Hit Shark--Pray!

SANTA MONICA, Cal., July 21 (AP)—The sea manual differs, but S-Sgt. Jerrold O. Eis of Dodge City, Kans., thinks he has the best method for combatting sharks.

He and four other men spent seven days on a raft after their plane was forced down in the South Pacific.

"The book said bop them on the nose," Eis related. "We did, but that only made them madder. So we let them alone and prayed."

McGrath Suspect List Totals Score

Retracing their steps over a 36-day period, state police today catalogued more than a score of suspects who have been questioned or kept under surveillance in the probe of the murder of 10-year-old Frances McGrath.

But arrest of the actual killer apparently was not immediately expected.

The latest two men to be requestioned, one of them a Scituate resident, were again released after retelling their stories to Capt. Joseph L. Ferrari, now in complete charge of the case.

In opening his campaign to trap the slayer, Ferrari and his aide, Lt. John Dempsey, have visited a dozen spots in Scituate and Norwell. They also have pored through thousands of words taken down in the questioning of suspects.

The two experts also have twice conferred with John Lopes, 55, Scituate war worker, who today was free in $25,000 bail. He is charged as an accessory after the fact. That amount of cash was filed with Plymouth Superior Court by a neighbor.

Lopes is the man who led police to the child's body in a Norwell lane on June 16. Only last week it developed that he and Mrs. Bertha Pina had discovered the body on June 13, but withheld their knowledge for three days.

Mrs. Pina is still being held as an accessory after the fact.

Mothers Urged to Leave London to Escape Robots

LONDON, July 21 (AP)—Salvos of flying bombs exploded in London and South England today and home security Minister Herbert Morrison, in a grave speech, urged mothers to evacuate the capital and other danger zones.

"It is a trying attack," he said at a luncheon meeting, "and there is no point in making light of it. Let me give the parents of London a warning. Do not be influenced by a quiet night now and then, or even by a few quieter days and nights.

"We are tackling this new weapon with all we know and all we have got and we shall beat it, but we have not beaten it yet and the strain on the housewife and her children may get worse before it is finally and completely removed.

"I strongly advise mothers still in the evacuation areas to think again and think hard. They will be fare better out of London until this battle is won."

Morrison added, "It is one thing to endure a bombing attack when you know you are in last ditch, as we were in 1940. It is another thing when you have this kind of cruel, utterly indiscriminate and vexatious onslaught at a time when it cannot possibly affect the issue of the war and can have no result but to create senseless damage and suffering—and of course to harden the mood of the people for their dealings with Germany after the war."

Dog-Face Gets Stern Training for Combat

INFANTRY UNIT, Northern Ireland—How does an infantryman spend his day training for combat? Let's follow him.

Rise and shine at 6:20, hit the line fully dressed at 6:30. No turning over, no stretching in bed. Breakfast at 6:45, and back to the Nissen hut to make bed and tidy up the place.

Hit the line again at 7:50 for four hours of non-stop training that begins at 8 a. m.

This might be in the nature of scout patrolling, inspecting for mines or booby traps, laying barbed-wire, attacking in platoons, company exercises, such as deploying, advancing, holding or retiring as a unit, combat firing, waterproofing vehicles, or he might take a 25-mile hike that lasts all day, or a nine-mile hike in two hours, and continue with company exercises.

Or he might start a 75-mile march with full equipment that lasts three days. On these long ones, he bivouacs in the open.

IT'S NOT FUN

Dinner is from 12 to 1, and in the afternoon, he continues with his training or marching.

One hour a day, three days a week, he participates in organized athletics—softball, volleyball, football or running. For diversion he is given lessons in unarmed combat—how to kill the enemy with bare hands, with a length of wire or a knife, and is taught the stratagems of judo.

It doesn't come under the heading of fun, and one dreads to think what might happen if some of these boys take to the highroad after the war. But it is all part of the grim business of war, necessary to disarm the little man who would be god.

The dog-face, as the infantryman refers to himself, usually has the evening to himself, but just when he thinks he's going to keep a date, he is routed out on a night problem, patrolling in the dark, laying wire or minefields, learning to use compass so that he can find his way back to camp.

START AT MIDNIGHT

These problems usually start at midnight because in this country, what with double daylight saving and all, it doesn't get dark until that witching hour. Occasionally he is given orientation lectures on habits and customs of the enemy. He is taught what to expect when he reaches the field of battle. He is warned against over-confidence as well as fear. Articles in Stars and Stripes help toward this end.

On his day off, usually one in seven, he catches up on his washing and correspondence.

Undergoing this rigid training with an eye toward impending combat are boys like:

PFC Arthur K. Whitcomb, 19, of 11 Tyng st., Newburyport. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence. Arthur graduated from Newburyport High in '42, played the cornet in the schol band. He's a member of the anti-tank battalion "but I'm going to study aeronautics after the war." He has a brother, Lt. Charles W., in the Air Corps, still in the States.

HE WANTS CANDY

PFC Richard Elmquist, 20, of 61 Evans st., Medford. Elmquist is a tall blond who attended Mt. Herman Prep near Greenfield, then worked as an electrotype apprentice at Ginn & Co., Cambridge. "I met a family over here named Parks. Used to live in Brookline."

Elmquist was a wrestling addict at home and his favorite was Whippet Billy Watson of Canada. "I could forget wrestling if I could get some candy once in a while."

PFC Victor Zucco, 32, of 130 Van Dusenville rd., Great Barrington. Vic worked in the Jug End Barn at home. "My boss, Robert Lexow, is a captain in the Engineers stationed in England. I'll get my job back."

Vic has been in the Army since Jan. 42, and spent a year in Iceland before coming here. "I didn't mind it there. I drove a jeep." En route he saw bro. Enrico, 26, who is with an armored division in England.

ARMY COOKS BETTER

Pvt. Romeo Lapointe, 29, of 18 Bullard st., New Bedford. Parents: Emery and Ludwine. Romeo was firing rifle grenades when we met him. He was cook in Bickford's restaurant, New York, before he entered the Army in April of '42. "These Army cooks must be better. I've gone from 129 pounds to 145."

He's one of 17 children, 3 boys and 14 girls. One brother, Albert, 28, is in the Navy. "Five of my sisters and my other brother are married. I'm the oldest in the family so I think I'll wed Florence Vennoch when I get back. She's a New York girl."

PFC Fred Bowdren, 23, of 12 Summer st., Charlestown. Fred is a tall, husky, florid-faced veteran of Iceland who talked about Charlestown's "Loop", Limey Wilson and the Bunker Hill Day Parade. He's engaged to Anne Leonard, 221 L st., South Boston, "a good swimmer but a better dancer." He worked for T. W. Ahern Truckers, "and many a family I moved to your town of Brighton."

His uncle, Pierce Powers, a World War I veteran, was in the limelight some time back when he enlisted in the Seabees.

"I'll bet we see the June 17 parade next year."

8 MONTHS IN ICELAND

PFC Benedetto De Bellis, 24, of 21 Charter st. No. End. This boyish looking GI spent eight months in Iceland and hadn't heard that Sal Bartolo had won the N. B. A. feather title. He worked for Finch Engraving, 596 Atlantic ave. and has two brothers, Sgt. Dominic and Pvt. Frank, in the Army, "in the states yet, I believe."

PFC William Mutchler, 21, of 51 Business st., Hyde Park. Mother: Mrs. Margaret. Bespectacled Bill graduated from Hyde Park High in '38. "Skip Sherlock was my home room teacher."

He played tackle for Skip's eleven, has gained 15 pounds since he chucked his job as mechanic at Quincy Motors. His brother, Sgt. Miles, 23, has been with the Air Corps in New Guinea since war started. "I met an M. P. named Foley from Hyde Park in Belfast last Nov."

PFC John E. Grugnale, 20, of 102 Leah st., Providence. John drove a truck for his father's bakery (11 Newark st.) before the war, now is a cook in the officers' mess, has gained 18 pounds since he came overseas and has a bro. Edward, 24, in the Army. "Must be over here by this time."

U. S. Ace Joker

A 15TH AIR FORCE BASE IN ITALY, July 21 (AP)—A long line of big four-engined American bombers just back from a raid was circling its home field awaiting instructions to land when a pilot radioed the control tower:

"Like permission to land immediately—only one engine working."

The tower gave its okay and a lone Mustang fighter darted out of the formation of heavy bombers and breezed in, its pilot laughing like a schoolboy and its single engine working perfectly.

Noxon Contempt Verdict Due

PITTSFIELD, July 21—Judge Thomas J. Hammond today had under advisement in Berkshire Superior Court the cases of two deputy sheriffs, Wallace A. Kezer of North Adams and William A. Ford of Lee, who have been accused of tampering with the first jury in the trial of John F. Noxon, Jr.

Judge Hammond said he would give his decision Monday on whether or not the two officers should be adjudged guilty of contempt of court.

In prosecuting his case against the deputies, Dist. Atty. Charles R. Alberti took pains to point out that he disbelieved that Joseph B Ely, former governor and defense counsel, took any steps to influence the jury at the first trial. That trial ended in a mistrial because of continued illness of one of the jurors.

In previous testimony, William A. Widen of Williamstown, foreman of the first jury, had testified that Kezer told the jurors during the trial:

"'I was just talking with Mr. Ely and he wanted to know how you boys felt and if you have expressed any opinion.'"

Widen later quoted Kezer as saying he did not remember making any remarks to the jurors and that if he did make them they were in fun and he did not mean them.

Information Service For Servicemen, Kin

The Greater Boston Community Council, 261 Franklin st., today started operation of an "Ask It Bureau," designed to give servicemen and their families information about lodgings, service clubs, eating and entertainments. Telephone is LIBerty 8515.

The bureau recently published a 24-page pocket guide for relatives of servicemen, giving information on various branches of the service, how to contact men in enemy countries, and listing government agencies which can assist them.

Gas Ration End Denied by OPA

OPA authorities in Washington denied that gasoline rationing would end in New England on Sept. 25, as forecast in George Holland's Boston American column, Boston After Dark, today. (See Page 19.)

John Galgay, OPA regional administrator, who now is directing the biggest drive yet attempted to smash black markets, said the Holland forecast was all news to him and that he doubted that the bars could be lowered for a long time to come.

Washington officials soon backed up Galgay's opinion, declaring it now is impossible to do away with gas rationing. A spokesman for the national OPA added that civilian allocation for the coming third quota is even less than the present second quota.

Gasoline Supply Lower, Says PAW

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—Increased diversion of refinery facilities to production of aviation gasoline has resulted in reduction of the nation's stockpile of civilian grade gasoline by more than 1,500,000 barrels in the past 30 days and by over 4,350,000 barrels since April 1, the Petroleum Administration for War said today.

"During this period of heightened military activity the petroleum industry has to replenish invasion and war theater inventories," said deputy PAW Administrator Ralph K. Davies.

On July 8, stocks of civilian gasoline held at refineries and terminals in this country totaled 46,136,000 barrels, compared with 46,274,000 the previous week.

Lost Ration Book Advertising Remitted

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration announced today it is no longer necessary to advertise for a lost ration book to obtain a replacement. The OPA, however, gave local boards discretionary power to require advertisement where they deemed fit.

Shoes "As Is" at $1.80 To Be Ration-Free

WASHINGTON, uly 21 (AP)—Supplies of men's and women's shoes damaged in process of manufacture can be sold ration-free soon at a top retail price of $1.80 a pair, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

First permits authorizing dealers to sell such shoes without ration stamps will be issued early in August.

Japs Hedge on 2-Premier Plan

By the Associated Press

A cryptic Domei broadcast today suggested Emperor Hirohito's warlords had reconsidered the idea of naming co-premiers to succeed Gen. Hideki Tojo.

"The Imperial Rule Assistance Ass'n (Japan's Fascist party) at a special meeting of party directors this afternoon unanimously pledged to give whole-hearted support to the new cabinet which will be formed under Gen. Kuniaki Koiso or Adm. Mitsumasa Yonai," the Domei dispatch said.

Woman Seeks to Collect Balm From Mrs. Dodge

In a continuance of a long fight, Judge Charles C. Cabot today had under advisement in Suffolk Superior Court a bill in equity by which Mrs. Clara F. Snider seeks to force payment of $15,000 heart balm she won two years ago from wealthy Mrs. Jane E. Dodge, Back Bay divorcee.

The court order asks that Mrs. Dodge be forced to transfer 221 shares in the Egyptian Chemical Co., of which she is treasurer, to Mrs. Snider's name in accordance with an alleged agreement reached two years ago.

In court were both women, as well as Atty. Herman A. Snider, legal counsel for the company and estranged husband of the petitioner.

Mrs. Snider took the stand to testify that she'd never received the stock certificate in the chemical company in her name.

Mrs. Dodge testified that the certificate had never been presented for cancellation.

The troubles of the Snider-Dodge triangle began back in 1941 when Mrs. Dodge, who is 30, and Snider were given suspended sentences on morals charges.

Charlie Chaplin's First Wife Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mildred Harris, beautiful actress in the silent film days and first wife of comedian Charles Spencer Chaplin, died of pneumonia which followed a major operation. She was about 41.

Miss Harris had been ill about three weeks prior to the recent operation. She married Chaplin in 1917 when she was only 15, and divorced him in 1920. She was subsequently twice married.

Miss Harris was one of the highest paid film stars in the silent days, but suffered financial reverses in recent years. Although she received a settlement from Chaplin estimated as high as $300,000, she filed a bankruptcy petition in 1922.

Boy, 15, Sought In Woman Attack

A 15-year-old youth who badly frightened a Highland ave. woman when he jumped from behind a clump of bushes in that section and grabbed her is being sought by police today.

The woman told police the youth fled after she screamed. She described him as about 5 feet 6 inches tall and said he was wearing a blue shirt and blue pants.

Gen. Walker Dies in Action

PITTSFIELD, July 21—Relatives today awaited official word from the War Department about the death in action in Normandy of Brig. Gen. Nelson M. Walker, native of this city, who was attached to the Army's general staff corps.

First word of the general's death was received by his wife, Mrs. Doris Walker, in a letter from their son, Lt. Perrin Walker.

A member of the regular Army since 1917, Gen. Walker was awarded the Legion of Merit last February for directing establishment and operation of a replacement training system.

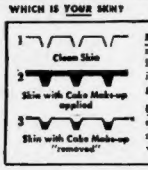
Don't Cork Pore-Mouths With Cake Make-Up!

WARNS SCIENCE

WHICH IS YOUR SKIN?



BIG PORE OPENINGS: Hard little pellets of cake make-up clogging pore-openings may not merely help stretch and enlarge them . . . but even worse, interfere with normal functioning, gather dangerous germs, lead to ugly blemishes!

DRY SKIN: Watch out for dry skin. It looks years older, lacks the radiance of youth. If you have the slightest tendency to dryness or skin flakiness, be wary of cake make-ups.

Lady Esther baby-texture powder gives that young, smooth, "flawless look"...without danger!

Skin specialists have told me their first warning to girls with skin trouble is "Stop using cake make-up". It exposes delicate skin to three serious risks . . . dryness, coarseness and blemishes. Needless risks, when you can achieve far more exciting loveliness . . . without danger.

Why Lady Esther "Glamorizes" your skin without danger

Made by the exclusive Twin Hurricane Process . . . of the finest and purest ingredients . . . Lady Esther Face Powder gives your skin an enchanting new radiance. Infinitely finer and softer than other powders . . . my powder spreads on your face not like powdery particles . . . but rather like a delicate flattering film, that hides little lines and blemishes, clings 4 long hours. Even in strong sunlight, your face never looks mask-like or chalky, but utterly natural . . . as fine, smooth and flawless as lovely baby skin.

These thrilling results I promise you are not just my own opinion. They are the actual words, the experiences of thousands of women . . . taken from actual letters! These women have seen the difference on their own skin. They know from experience that no other make-up is half so flattering . . . or stays on and stays fresh so long, as safe Lady Esther Powder!

What is your experience with cake make-up? Write me. 7171 West 65th St., Chicago, Ill.

The War Today

See Good Reasons For Plot on Hitler

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

There can be no doubt the attempt on Hitler's life has signalled a rebellion of dangerous size against his regime, despite his claim that only a "small clique" of officers was involved.

The gravity of the situation is made startlingly clear by the dictator's move in conferring the powers of life and death on Gestapo Chief Himmler and setting that arch-murderer to work in another bloody purge. It is emphasized by panicky appeals which Marshal Goering and other Hitler captains have made to the army and navy to remain loyal.

Hitler says the coup was aimed at paving the way for the surrender of Germany. That likely is true, but it still leaves much mystery surrounding the attempted assassination of the man who, evil as he is, has exercised one of the most powerful leaderships in history.

Hitler's leadership, especially over the younger generation of fanatical Nazis whom he himself created, has remained strong. Many have literally regarded him as a messiah.

Why, then, should any of his own people want to assassinate him? Well, there are a dozen good reasons. He has had his awful blood purges and massacres and he has used his power of life and death ruthlessly to enforce his orders. However, we seem to be dealing with a revolt among the armed services, and we have a logical explanation in the remarkable declaration a couple of days ago by Nazi Gen. Edmund Hofmeister to his Russian captors.

Hofmeister asserted in bitter terms that Hitler was responsible for the German disaster in the eastern theater because of insistence, against the judgment of the high command, on clinging to positions to the death regardless of mountainous casualties. So it seems the mad dog of Berchtesgaden finally bit himself.

The genesis of Hitler's obsession is this: When the Red armies finally blocked the Nazi invasion deep within Russian territory, he adopted the apparently sound strategy of fighting a delaying action—swapping his abundant capital factory for time which might produce a turn of fortune in his favor.

At the outset this worked. But Soviet striking power multiplied amazingly, and German strength decreased, until by the beginning of this year Hitler no longer had the reserves or resources to pursue the scheme of delay. However, he declined to scrap it, despite advice of senior generals. For months he has made colossal sacrifices of life in a wild effort to hold positions he should have abandoned to shorten his front.

As a result we find him desperately fighting with back to wall

German Traveler's Story Of Revolt Within Reich

By ROBERT N. STURTEVANT

STOCKHOLM, July 21 (AP)—A traveler reaching Sweden today declared two German divisions revolted Wednesday in East Prussia, apparently touching off the revolt in Germany.

The traveler said the reported revolt was common knowledge in Berlin when he left Thursday morning. The uprising, he said, occurred Wednesday noon at an unspecified point in East Prussia.

The German traveler said he was informed a number of troops from the Copenhagen, Denmark, garrison had been sent to Germany Wednesday night.

GENERALS FOR PEACE

Swedish newspaper stories appeared to be based mostly on reports from the German underground (Atlantic Sender) radio. They included unconfirmed reports that: (1) A peace government led by such deposed German general officers as von Rundstedt, Falkenhausen, Halder, von Bock and von Brauchitsch was being formed and gaining support "all over Germany"; and (2) That an SS division had been sent to Berlin to keep order.

The German traveler said it generally was believed in the Reich the attack on Hitler was made on Wednesday night.

In connection with this report, the newspaper Aftontidningen, in an uncredited, undated dispatch, said a German regiment mutinied in East Prussia and refused to go to the front.

STATE OF SIEGE

The report asserted a state of siege was proclaimed at the East Prussia capital of Konigsberg and SS troops were dispatched to the city.

In addition to the break in telephone communications between Sweedn and Berlin, the lines from Sweden to Hamburg also were shut down at 7:30 a. m. today, Allehanda reported.

An unconfirmed report printed in Aftontidningen said the reported attempt on Hitler's life occurred during the chancellor's usual afternoon conference at Obersalzburg. The explosion was said to have been caused by a time bomb.

Hitler was reported to have escaped because he arrived two minutes late and was standing in a doorway of the conference room when the bomb exploded.

Beer Yank Booty

LIVORNO, Italy, July 21 (AP)—In the capture of Livorno (Leghorn) the Allies took possession of a brewery which had been turning out beer for Nazi troops in Italy.

Some of the first American troops to enter the city discovered the brewery, tasted some of the cool "suds" found in underground vats—and pronounced it delightful.

Beaten, Robbed of $778

Pausing for a rest on the doorstep before entering his home in Columbus ave., South End, early today, Stephen Filles, 57, a cook, aws slugged and robbed of his wallet, containing $778, by two young men, he reported to police.

Democratic Party Tired--Bromfield

By LOUIS BROMFIELD
Author and Lecturer
Written Expressly for the Hearst Newspapers

CHICAGO, July 21—It was a tired convention, a disillusioned convention, a divided convention.

It may be that Mr. Dewey had something when he spoke of "tired old men grown quarrelsome." A dispassionate observer could scarcely have any other impression.

The opening session was listless, tired and without enthusiasm, and the following sessions rarely were above that level save during the ovations for Wallace.

Maybe it was that consciousness of the war overshadowed the proceedings. Certainly on this occasion, it was not the weather, which was clear and sparkling with a breeze from the lakes.

THE ACID TEST

You can tell about genuine enthusiasm at conventions. When there is enthusiasm you do not hear the organ and the band playing frantically to whip up an impression of spontaneity.

The principal sign of life came in the fighting array of inside delegations and the refusal of the southern states to make the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt unanimous.

Even tonight when Helen Gahagan and Quentin Reynolds were scheduled as the big show, there was not much excitement.

Miss Gahagan made a dull speech—but neither succeeded in causing much enthusiasm.

WALLACE STANDS OUT

The fact that only Henry Wallace aroused any enthusiasm came, I think, from the fact that in all proceedings only Henry Wallace's rugged figure seemed genuinely to stand out.

Whatever may be individual reaction to Mr. Wallace, the fact remains that he was really fighting for something, and the people on the streets, in the hotels and in the convention knew it. He did not have any part in the bargaining, compromises, deals and even cheating which marked the whole tired proceedings.

It seemed to me that there were in Chicago all the signs of the disintegration of a great political party.

The country will know in November. If the end does not come then, it will come three or four years later, and then it will be left to the old line Democrats to put together the pieces and pull the party together again.

Maybe it is not only the men in the administration who have grown tired and quarrelsome, but what is left of the party itself.

spoken for the navy and air force, respectively.

BALK JUNKERS' FLIGHT

Significantly, none of the top-drawer Junkers, headed by Von Rundstedt, had yet been heard from and Berlin remained silent as to their fate except to indicate precautions had been set up to prevent contact with the Allies or flight by plane.

Besides Von Rundstedt, deposed officers included Field Marshal Gen. Walther von Brauchitsch, former army commander in chief but hostile to Hitler and reported leader of an anti-Nazi group anxious to salvage some remnant of German militarism from the expected defeat; Gen. Baron Alexander von Falkenhausen; Field Marshal Gen. Wilhelm Ritter von Lees, Field Marshal Gen. Ewald von Kleist, Field Marshal Gen. von Bock and Field Marshal Fritz Erich von Mannstein.

Speaking in angry and strident tones in an unheralded early morning broadcast only a few hours after Berlin announced he had escaped death, Hitler declared:

"At an hour in which the German army is waging a very hard struggle, there has appeared in Germany a very small group similar to that in Italy (apparently a reference to the Italian surrender last Sept. 8), which believed that it couldthrust a dagger into our back as it did in 1918. But this time they have made a mistake."

ACCUSES OWN ARMY

Hitler, Goering and Doenitz all tried to emphasize that the dissatisfaction was concentrated in a small group. No spokesman appeared for the army, and this was regarded as possibly significant.

Goering, who is topped only by Hitler in the Nazi hierarchy, pointed the finger of retribution directly at the stiff-backed Junkers faction of the army.

There is considerable suspicion over the fact that Berlin propogandists for six hours had been telling the German people and the world that the attempted assassination was "made by the enemy" before Hitler came out with a flat accusation of his own army officers.

Goering declared the "mean attempt at murder" was organized by "a miserable clique of former generals who had been chosen from their posts for a leadership that was as cowardly as it was incompetent."

As long ago as November reports from inside Germany indicated an anti-Hitler group of old line Junkers was awaiting the psychological moment to attempt a coup.

The first Soviet reaction broadcast by the Moscow radio was that the attempt on Hitler's life was "only one episode of a widespread conspiracy by a group of German generals and officers."

DEFY HITLER'S ORDERS

This broadcast said it was considered significant that one German general after another had surrendered in the face of the current Red army offensive without attempting to carry out Hitler's fight-to-the-death order.

Goering decreed every airplane flight must have the approval either of himself or Himmer—possibly a precaution to prevent any Hess-like flights or forestall any peace emissaries from reaching the Allies.

Himmler, whose reputation as a ruthless hangman is well known even within censor-ridded Germany, got quickly to work after Hitler named him "commander of the army at home."

"This time we will settle accounts in such a manner as we National Socialists are wont," shouted Hitler.

The ax fell first upon the colonel named by Hitler as hurling the bomb—Count von Stauffenberg, apparently one of the three sons of Freiherr Schenk von Stauffenberg of Wilfingen, Wurttemberg. Berlin announced he had been shot.

TELLS OF "SUICIDES"

"Tre ringleaders have partly committed suicide after their attempt failed. Partly they were shot by battalions of the army. . . . There were no incidents anywhere. All other people who have become guilty of crime by their attitude will be taken to account."

An hour and a half after the Nazis claimed the revolt had been crushed, a broadcast purporting to come from an underground German radio called for an organized fight against Himmler's Gestapo.

Lauding officers who made the attempt on Hitler's life, the speaker, who identified himself as a German army man, declared "only a united host of such courageous and fearless officers can save our cause."

Thirteen of Hitler's personal military staff were injured by the explosive—which went off within six feet of the dictator himself and one of them died, Berlin said.

"I personally am entirely unhurt apart from negligible grazes, bruises or burns," Hitler said in relating what he called "the details about a crime that has no equal in German history."

"PROOF HE'S ALIVE"

"An extremely small clique of ambitious, unscrupulous, and at the same time foolish, criminally stupid officers hatched a plot to remove me and together with me virtually to exterminate the staff of the German high command," said Hitler.

Addressing himself to "German men and women," Hitler declared one reason for his broadcast was to disprove "the assertion of these usurpers that I was no longer alive." Goering, in the same vein, accused the plotters of trying to set up a new government on the false premise that Hitler was dead.

Declaring the "very small clique of criminal elements" would be "exterminated quite mercilessly," Hitler added:

"I order therefore at this moment that no civilian authority has to accept any order from an authority which these usurpers arrogantly assume. Secondly that no military authority and no leader of troops and no soldier should obey any order by these usurpers, that on the contrary everyone is in duty bound either to arrest the person bearing or issuing such an order or to kill him immediately if he offers resistance."

Thus, with German armies retreating on three fronts and the home front being blasted virtually without letup, Hitler and his inner circle threw down the gauntlet for a war to the finish.

Japs Claim U. S. Loss In Attack on Yap

Curley Tosses Hat In Ring For Mayor

By FRANK REILLY

CHICAGO, July 21—Cong. James M. Curley is a candidate again for mayor of Boston if Mayor Tobin is elected Governor in the November election.

The former Governor and mayor tossed his hat into the Boston mayoralty ring here at a dinner given by the Massachusetts Democratic delegation to Mayor and Mrs. Tobin.

Urging Democrats of the state to forget past differences and work for victory in harmony, Curley said:

"I am convinced that Mayor Tobin will become Gov. Tobin and when that happens I shall become mayor of Boston."

SAYS TOBIN TIGHT-FISTED

Curley revealed his political plans in the event of a Tobin victory when called upon by Cong. John W. McCormack to speak informally to the delegates and their friends on the coming national and state campaigns.

Curley prefaced his remarks by declaring that he regretted that Speaker Sam Rayburn of the House is not a candidate for the vice-presidency because Cong. McCormack would automatically rise to that post if the Democrats held a majority in the lower branch of Congress next January.

Curley, in a lighter mood declared that Mayor Tobin has been tight fisted as chief executive of the city and added, "but then he didn't have a great deal to spend."

Today's session of the Bay State delegates was called by Cong. McCormack as delegation chairman at the request of Sen. David I. Walsh, who has not yet wholly abandoned hope that Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky may emerge as a compromise candidate for that nomination.

CHARGE DOUBLE-CROSS

All had not been harmony when the diners sat down for a few hours earlier. Boston School Committeeman Michael J. Ward and Dist. Atty. William J. Foley had attempted vainly to list former Postmaser General James A. Farley as he Presidential choice.

But the state's entire 34 votes were cast for Roosevelt while Ward and Foley were out getting a bite to eat with Sen. Walsh. Both charged a double cross on their return and Ward took to the California delegation's microphone in a vain attempt to get a Farley vote credited. But he was ruled out of order by he chair.

Norton Wins Recount In Ward 20 House Tilt

By a margin of nine votes George B. Norton of West Roxbury, 22, a Marine veteran of Guadalcanal, today was the winner of a Democratic nomination for the House of Representatives in a recount upset announced by the Boston Election Commission.

Norton, who lost a leg in storming the beaches of Guadalcanal, edged Rep. William F. Sullivan, who originally had been adiudged winner by 129 votes. The final count gave Norton 2031.

Saltonstall Tops Primary Vote

Although Democrats outvoted Republicans by 11,344 in the July 11 state primary, Gov. Saltonstall polled the largest vote of any candidate for statewide office, the official tabulation of ballots by the office of the Secretary of State disclosed today.

Republicans cast 215,076 ballots and the Democrats 226,420. Saltonstall, unopposed for the Republican nomination for U. S. Senate, received 189,825 votes.

Democratic voters displayed most interest in the race for governor between Mayor Tobin and State Treasurer Francis X. Hurley. This contest polled the largest number of Democratic votes and the fewest blanks. Tobin won with a total of 131,889 to 78,084 for Hurley. Blanks were 15,439.

Largest vote in Republican contests cast was in the fight for lieutenant-governor which Dist. Atty. Robert F. Bradford of Middlesex County won over four opponents with a total of 106,684, which topped the combined total of the field. Only 17,738 blanks were cast in this race.

Public to Visit Army Hospital

The Boston Area Station Hospital at Trapelo rd. and Forest st., Waltham, will be formally accepted by the Army at ceremonies in the hospital recreation hall at 3 p. m. tomorrow.

The hospital, fully equipped to care for sick and injured military personnel stationed within a 75-mile radius of Boston, will be accepted for the Army by Maj.-Gen. Sherman Miles, commanding the First Service Command.

Other guests who will participate in the presentation are Brig.-Gen. Raymond W. Bliss, representing the surgeon general of the Army; Col. George W. Gillette, head of the district engineers; Col. Elton L. Titus, who has been assigned as hospital commanding officer, and Mayor John F. Devane of Waltham.

Speakers will be introduced by Col. Henry P. Dunbar, district engineer who was in charge of construction.

The hospital will be open for inspection by the public on Sunday from 2 to 5 p. m.

A complete village in itself the hospital covers 90 acres and comprises 40 Colonial style, one-story fireproof buildings, connected by weatherproof, heated corridors. Construction was started last October, and complete costs amount to more than $2,500,000.

Latest medical and surgical equipment has been installed and the project includes a recreation hall, library, chapel, post office, barber shop, post exchange and restaurant.

Jap Camp Police Force Resigns

TULE LAKE, Cal., July 21 (AP)—The entire Japanese police force at the Tule Lake segregation center has resigned after receiving anonymous threats.

War Relocation Authority officials said the group claimed it had received no co-operation from fellow-evacuees in the camp for disloyal Japanese.

The WRA disclosed the chief of the Jap police body and his assistant resigned July 3, a day after the fatal stabbing of a Jap evacuee. Then the staff dwindled from 115 to 72 members.

WRA officials asked each of 71 residential blocks in the center to choose two representatives for a new community police organization.

Our Year of Decision

THE UNITED STATES Chamber of Commerce has announced an eleven-point program of "objectives" which, with no revision whatever, could logically and sensibly be the program of any American group interested in the attainment of American prosperity.

It has nothing in it that any sincere and patriotic American group, representative of labor or agriculture, business or industry, producer or consumer, could not endorse and strive to realize.

It proposes, for instance, the devotion of all energy to the winning of the war at the earliest possible moment—as who does not?

It advocates measures which will enable service men and women to re-enter civilian life after the war with fullest opportunities for profitable employment.

It urges co-operation between industry and government to the end that industry may get BACK into useful production and that government may get OUT of the productive fields in which free enterprise, initiative and opportunity are essential for national prosperity and happiness.

ALL OF THESE are "objectives" which might be phrased in different words by various American groups, but which are agreed to in principle by all patriotic groups.

But there is one particularly vital point in the program which needs special emphasis.

As the tenth point in the program, the Chamber of Commerce commits itself to:

"Encourage the opening up of new frontiers of opportunity for the investment of capital and the expansion of business activity, with special attention to agricultural and urban development, to transportation and communications, and to management-labor relations."

This is surely the key to a FREE economy, of the type that has given America all its prosperity and happiness in the past, of the type that has enabled America to forge the superior weapons that are winning this war, and of the type that most of the American people desire and rely upon for the peaceful and productive future.

But how are we going to have a free American economy after the war—the type that opens up new frontiers of opportunity through the investment of capital—with a government which does not BELIEVE in free enterprise, does not ENCOURAGE it, and in all its past policies has disparaged and impaired it?

THE GOVERNMENT we have NOW does not have faith in American free enterprise.

It is the government we had in the years before the war, when free enterprise was discouraged and disparaged, when legitimate and productive industry was handicapped and harried, stifled and strangled, by self-seeking New Deal politicians.

If we are to have the SAME government after the war—and it is now bidding for prolongation and perpetuation of its powers—what are we to expect from it but more discouragement and disparagement of the system of free enterprise which has always meant and will always mean so much to us?

In addition to the logical and sensible eleven-point program of objectives which the United States Chamber of Commerce proposes, the American people need a ONE-POINT program which is more important than all other objectives and is indeed the parent of all the others.

America needs most of all AN AMERICAN GOVERNMENT, pledged to the free institutions of our country, believing in those institutions, faithful to them—and morally and honestly competent to serve and preserve them.

This is a decision the American people must make.

This is THEIR YEAR OF DECISION.

Washington Scene . .

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Reproduction in Whole or in Part Strictly Prohibited.)

CHICAGO, July 21—I conceive it to be my simple duty to testify that Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia has not been leading the life of a Libertine or roue at the Democratic national convention.

Sen. Byrd's conduct, I am sure, has been exemplary. He has merely been the innocent and unknowing victim of a playful lady.

This feminine cutup, whose name I am not going to mention as I do not wish to encourage her in her deviltry, has Room 621 in the Stevens Hotel.

Sen. Byrd has room 621A.

I trust you can see the plot beginning to develop. I would advise careful reading from here on, as I am skipping some of the more titillating details.

It seems that this wag in chic clothing became very annoyed the first day when delegates and other politicos kept mistaking her boudoir for the Byrd suite. She grew tired of explaining that Byrd lived in the opposite wing.

This lady is not a safe type when she is annoyed. It makes her get ideas. She got one.

She slithered into her most ravishing negligee and waited!

Pretty soon there came a knock. She opened the door coyly—just enough to let the caller get a good look at her get-up.

The visitor turned out to be a stuffy-looking gentleman of mature years. But his eyes popped like a wolfish sophomore's on beholding her half-clad apparition.

It was a full 40 seconds before he could find words. Finally he stammered:

"I would like to speak to Sen. Byrd."

The lady gave him a positive leer, causing him to recoil sharply.

"Well ——," she said, "This is hardly the time, is it? Some other time, perhaps?"

For all his pompous appearance, the caller turned out to be quite worldly—also a gentleman.

"Of course! Of course!" he said. "Please do not think of disturbing him. I know how these things are!"

THE NEXT CALLER was a woman, with a face that, even under normal conditions, seems disapproving. But when she got a gander at the sirenish figure she looked as if she were ready to go out and holler for the vice squad.

"Humph!" she humphed. "So this is how they act when they come to conventions!"

THE PLAYFUL LADY pulled one more gag. When a third caller inquired for Sen. Byrd she said—absolutely deadpan.

"He never comes to conventions!"

The caller positively gibbered.

"But," he said, "I've seen him here!"

"Oh," said the lady, "are you being taken in by that old gag too? That wasn't Sen. Byrd you saw. He was a stooge who is a dead ringer for him. He sends this stooge to all conventions, to do all the work, and take the shoving around, while he stays back on his farm watching his apples ripen!"

This caller practically tottered away.

OPPOSITE the Chicago Stadium is a souvenir shop with this big sign in the window:

"Our President—bored and ready to mail."

A REPORTER buttonholed Sen. Barkley and proceeded to tell him some of the facts of life. The Senator, always the gentleman, listened politely. When the reporter had finished his recital, Barkley moved away.

He came running back, however, and buzzed something in the reporter's ear. Another newspaperman, who had watched this tableau, became quite excited, figuring maybe Barkley had spilled some hot inside stuff. He approached the first reporter and said:

"What did Barkley come dashing back to tell you?"

"Oh," said the other, "he just came back to tell me that what I had told him was off the record!"

MISS LOUISE WILSON, publicity chief for the Democratic women's division, had business with Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins. Miss Wilson phoned Mme. Perkins at her suite, No. 612, Blackstone Hotel.

"Is this Madame Perkins?" she asked.

"No," said the voice on the other end. "This is Room 614. This is Miss Zasu Pitts!"

On the Side . . . .

Say over again, and yet once over again,
That thou dost love me.
Say thou dost love me, love me, love me, toll
The silver iterance!
Only minding, dear,
To love me also in silence
With thy soul.

—MRS. BROWNING.

ABOVE QUOTED by request. Since one of Mrs. Browning's sonnets was quoted in the film, "The Purple Heart," the demand for her poems of love has been great. Perhaps it would not be a bad idea to revive the film, "The Barrets of Wimpole Street."

OUR ARMED FORCES will soon be in what many believe the most interesting city in Europe. And I don't mean Paris. Am referring to Venice. Most of this quaint city is architecturally the same as in the Middle Ages. It is built on 118 small islands connected with each other by 452 bridges. Of course, there are no automobiles in Venice, but there are many motorboats which take the place of taxis. Instead of buses and street cars there are steamboats. These operate on the main canals and stop about every tenth of a mile. The gondoliers are very active. They were still doing a lot of singing the last time I was in Venice. But that was before the war. They did not confine their vocal efforts to snatches of opera. I have a vivid recollection of a gondolier passing under our hotel window at about 3 in the morning singing the Italian version of "Yes, Sir, She's My Baby."

ROMANTIC SPOT: Prewar Venice was a very romantic spot. Great place for honeymoons. Still the odor from the canals was a little herd to take. We stopped at one of the best hotels on the Grand Canal and at times the atmosphere reminded me of the Gowanus canal in Brooklyn. In fact, after a couple of days the odor became so strong we fled to the nearby Lido.

BRONZE HORSES: Am wondering if the four bronze horses are still on St. Mark's Church in Venice. I doubt it. Hitler has probably carried this remarkable bit of statuary off to Germany. These bronze horses date back to Nero. The Turks stole them. The Venetians took them from the Turks in 1004 A. D. In 1797 Napoleon stole them from the Venetians and put them on top of the Arc de Triomphe in Paris. In 1815 the Venetians got them back again. They were still in Venice in 1930.

STREETS: Calle Delle Belle Donne. That is the name of a Venetian street. It means "the street of beautiful women." It was so named about a thousand years ago. Nowadays all the smart looking females of Venice are found around the square of St. Mark's. Another Venetian street is named Calle Degli Assassinini, or the street of murderers. On this street in the Middle Ages, the professional assassins had their headquarters.

CHURCHES: St. Mark's in Venice is the most beautiful church in the world. It took over 600 years to finish the interior of this church... In front of some Venice fish markets can be seen a statue of St. Peter, the Fisher Saint... Gondoliers are continually pointing out to tourists, places and houses on the canals where the celebrities of the yesteryear resided. One gondolier pointed out to me a house which he claimed had been the residence of Desdemona, Othello's unfortunate girl friend.

SIDELIGHTS: At birth every Venetian boy is named Giovanni and every girl Maria. These names are given by the church. The godfather then picks two more names for the infant. The parents have nothing to say about this matter... The population of Venice is about 250,000. There are more than 100 churches in the city and only a few are less than 300 years old. There are plenty of places to walk in Venice, though the streets are extremely narrow. For example, the Merceria, principal shopping street, is only three yards wide. There are shops on each side. Each shop is about 10 feet wide.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Did you play baseball in the White Mountain League in New Hampshire and on what team? A—I played on the Bethlehem, Fabyans and Bretton Woods teams in the league you mention. Was quite a league in those days. Q—What is the lucky day for Capricorns? Also on what day and hour was Governor Dewey born? A—The star gazers say the lucky day for Capricorns is Saturday. Governor Dewey was born at 7 P. m. on March 24, 1902, in Owosso, Mich.

HOLLYWOOD, July 21—Joan Fontaine, who holds the world's record for turning down stories (few stars could hope for so many attractive offers), has agreed to make "The Affairs of Susan" for Hal Wallis. The deal was signed with David Selznick, who owns her contract, and who has had her under suspension because of her refusal to make these many pictures.

Joan Fontaine

Joan is a young lady who knows her own mind. She was determined to make a comedy, and "Susan" is just that—a sprightly yarn by Lazlo Garog and Thomas Munroe.

THE WIDELY DISCUSSED stage play, "Decision," by Edward Chodorov, has been sold to Samuel Bronston for a sizeable sum plus a percentage. Apparently Bronston has plenty of do-re-mi and is out to spend it. He sent Julien Duvivier to New York to see the play and arrange to collaborate with Chodorov in adapting it for the screen. Duvivier will produce and direct it.

"MR. WINKLE GOES TO WAR" has set Jack Moss in solid as a producer at Columbia—so solid that his next will be "Pal Joey." The Broadway stage hit has nothing to do with pal Joe Stalin, but was the show that first brought Gene Kelly to fame, fortune and the fans. Need I add that Mons. Moss, who used to be Gary Cooper's manager before he took up producing, is keeping his fingers crossed, hoping to get Gene for the movie version.

THE NAME, William Dozier, has become very well known in Hollywood the last six months. Bill, who was story editor at Paramount, built up an enviable reputation as one of the most important and talented young men in town. Now he goes to RKO to become Charles Koerner's executive manager, upping his position and giving him a great opportunity, for RKO is doing big things in the motion picture world right now.

"HAPPINESS" is postponed for Ida Lupino (and that's no prophecy—it's the title of a movie). First, Ida will do "Pillar to Post," a play by Rose Simon Kohn, because Jack Warner thinks it is a more topical theme. Production starts around July 31 with Walter Huston and William Prince, the latter moving over from the leading man spot in "Happiness." I asked Jack if this meant that "Happiness" was definitely off Ida's schedule and how it affected Corinne Griffith's test. "The picture is still on tap," Jack replied, "and if Corinne wants the part when the film goes into production, it's still hers."

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Ann Miller and Fred De Cordova are reported on the verge of a Yuma elopement; Mrs. Ward Bond, who filed suit for divorce only a few weeks ago, has been in constant communication with the hospital since her husband's accident; Richard Lyon, 9, son of Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon, was in court today to have his Para contract approved. His grandmother, Mrs. Phyllis Daniels, made the same trip with Bebe many years ago. Reminds me, Bebe's London show is closed and she has moved to the country; Gloria De Haven's latest is Russ Randall, Boston socialite. He was recently discharged from the Air Corps following a crash; Lou Costello goes to his home town, Paterson N. J., for the premiere of "A WAVE, a WAC and a Marine." Proceeds go to a vacation fund for under-privileged children; calling Johnny Weissmuller "Tarzan" is fighting words and was the thing that started an argument in a night spot with Jim Dawson; It's a nine-pound boy for the Gregory Pecks—and are they happy; Trixie Friganza has donated her money to the church and is living at the Sacred Heart Convent.

NEW YORK, July 21—Frank Sinatra needs no introduction and is not going to get any from me. If you don't know who "The Voice" is, ask the kid next door—you'll be moidered!—D. K.

FRANK SINATRA SAYS:

Writing a Broadway column from Hollywood isn't too easy a task, especially when it's being written in a dressing room with a character in sailor pants—who is sometimes known as Gene Kelly, yelling, "Hey, de-Maupassant, get a tighter hold on that keyboard before you fall off the chair."

As a matter of fact doing anything when Kelly is around isn't too easy. At the moment Gene has become a dancing tutor with me as his only pupil.

WHEN I FIRST came to Hollywood, I was scared stiff. The boys back East had warned me of what was in store for me. Stories of Jack Haley's practical joking kept me awake nights.

I didn't find out until the picture was all over that Haley had worked a practical joke on me without me ever knowing it. He had sent the alarm tidings back East so that I would worry about everything in store for me and then had just sat back and let me sweat out the gags—and he'd had more fun watching me feel my way around, testing everything before I used it, than he would have had by going through the motion of some elaborate gag setup.

THE PRACTICAL JOKE has always been an integral part of the Hollywood scene and a guy like myself, coming out on a wave of publicity is a natural fall guy. That's why, come anything else, I will never be able to say I found the Hollywoods a dull place.

Haley's solo attempt at a gag when he worked on that "Higher and Higher" op'ry was a honey. Jack framed a deal with one of the film editors and did a Crosby imitation of "Oh, What a Lovely Way to Spend an Evening" on a sound track, which was dubbed in on the film in place of my singing, for a studio runoff. And believe me, it had me worried when I heard it. The singing was so good that I was afraid they would decide to shoot the whole thing over with Jack doing the vocalizing and me playing the comic. But on the whole I haven't been treated too badly by the Hollywood jokers' set.

HOLLYWOOD, July 21—Sonny Tufts, who was a night club singer before he was signed for pictures, finally gets the chance to sing in "Here Come the Waves" . . . Johnny Downs and his wife are expecting a baby . . . Susanna Foster is trying to get the Victory Committee to schedule a trip overseas for her . . . S. N. Behrman flew in an Army bomber to London, receiving an invitation from Brendan Bracken, minister of information . . . Irene Dunne, now working in an untitled love story at Columbia with Charles Boyer, received a gift from a fan, Pvt. Jim Richards, who sent her, from Italy, a diary kept by Eleanora Duse . . . Anne Rooney and Capt. Paul Penrose are vooming . . . Miriam Hopkins is starting rehearsing the lead in Samson Raphelson's new play, "A Perfect Marriage."

Frank Sinatra has bought himself a ukulele and is now learning to strum it . . . Lorraine Miller, a young Lana Turner recently signed by Metro for the "Ziegfield Follies," finally managed to get an apartment. Miss Miller made a deal with the Beverly Hills apartment house owner that she would manage the building . . . Boston After Dark

EXCLUSIVE: GASOLINE RATIONING in New England will end on Sept. 25, according to inside information reaching this corner . . . It probably is doing an injustice to John Galgay, OPA head of gasoline distribution and policing in this sector, to mention him in the same paragraph with a definite statement about the end of "gas" rationing . . . He may be wrongly credited, or blamed, as the source of the above information . . . But this column's forecast will be a surprise to him.

THE REASON that his name came to mind is that Mr. Galgay has been the target of another newspaper's blast against the gasoline situation in the Boston sector . . . He has done a fair-ish job, against tremendous odds . . . Gasoline could be bought in the "black market" for as little as five-cents a gallon premium . . . It now costs most 30 cents a gallon premium . . . The counterfeit stamps that inundated New England originated in New York, and some of the smartest operators in rackets unpatriotically directed the traffic.

HERE IS THE STORY of the end of Brooklyn (The Bums) National League baseball club's losing streak . . . The Bums had lost 16 straight games . . . Leo Durocher was visited by Warren Hopkins, the big dyeing and cleansing man from Charlestown . . . Warren, or "Hoppy," had his five-year-old son in tow, and although his father is one of baseball's most famous fans, the scion of the house was paying his first obeisance to the game which his father loves . . . Durocher asked Warren to leave his child in his (Durocher's) custody, and that was done . . . Brooklyn went to bat and scored seven runs . . . Brooklyn also won the ball game. Hopkins Senior has been ignoring frantic telegrams asking that his kid be shipped C. O. D. to Durocher.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Mae West is trying to be an actress of the Helen Hayes or Katharine Cornell stamp (which calls for more persuasive power, according to critics, than Mae West has acquired in Hollywood) . . . Otherwise, Mae's new show "Catherine the Great" is potentially the most elaborate non-musical hit since "Once in a Lifetime" . . . And her producer, by taking an extra week's booking in Philadelphia, has hopes of calming Mae down to the point where she can emulate Catherine the Great of Russia without heaving her chest . . . Michel, the Maestro of the Paddock Club at Suffolk Downs, handled the Massachusetts Handicap Day crowd better than Jack Spooner, who separates the celebrities from the nonentities at the Stork Club, could have done . . . The unflurried Michel had three ex-governors from New England states among the disappointed occasional guests he was harried with . . . So watch for a Boston spot this Fall named Michel's, where—we may presume—every customer will have a choice ringside table . . . (The guy is truly a great headwaiter) . . . Georgie Powers, a veteran of old A Co., Ninth Regiment, swamped the opposition in winning the commander's job at the Michael J. Perkins' (A. L.) Post annual election.

3 Somerville 3-Year-Olds See the World on a Nickel

In Somerville today, three 3-year-old youngsters slept later than usual, and even when they awakened they played quietly so as not to disturb other members of their households.

No model child experiment was this, merely the aftermath of seven miles of wanderlust, an 8½-hour search by police of four cities and a group of 50 neighbors, capped by stern parental lectures.

It all started—like so many similar adult escapades—with a bottle, only this was a milk bottle. Little Kevin Renaghan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Renaghan of Gordon st., visited his playmates up the street, Alan and John Collins, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. David F. Collins, to announce that he had a milk bottle to cash in.

The bottle was converted into five cents, and the five cents into candy. Then the boys were off to see the world. They strode a circuitous route three miles to Foss Park at Broadway and Northern Artery, Somerville, and went wading in a pool.

Their feet cooled, the toddlers started down busy Broadway to Sullivan sq. and Thompson sq., Charlestown. By this time, their descriptions had been teletyped by Somerville police to Cambridge, Arlington, Medford and Metropolitan police. They were recognized by police and taken home in a prowl car.

And that's why they slept late this morning and played quietly, because they promised they would be children who would be seen and not heard, but especially they promised they would be seen.

First Esplanade Concert Draws Throng of 20,000

The Esplanade concerts are off to their 16th season following an opening which, despite the threat of showers, saw 20,000 persons fill the great oval in front of the Hatch Memorial Shell.

Predicted rain failed to arrive and Arthur Fiedler's 70 symphony musicians played through an evening that was replete with encores.

A reminder that America is a pretty good place to live in was voiced by Lt. Gov. Horace T. Cahill, who addressed the great throng before Fiedler picked up his baton.

He expressed hope for a speedy end of the war and said we are not so bad off after all in a country that has no dimout and no fear of falling bombs at such a great outdoor blazing spectacle as the Esplanade concerts.

Q—Having been discharged from the Army because of wounds received in action overseas, I would like to find out where I might be able to secure information pertaining to the new educational program under the new GI Bill of Rights.

L. A. T., Malden.

A—Applications for the new educational program, authorized by passage of the GI bill, are now available at many of the leading schools and colleges and also at the local Veterans' Bureau office, Federal Building, Boston. If you are qualified under the bill to apply for the educational provisions, make application immediately. The Veterans' Administration will also assist you in mapping out a suitable program.

Q—What is the deadline on reinstatement of National Service Life Insurance policies that have lapsed? I was discharged from service in the Army nine months ago, but never attempted to continue payments. W. D. Revere.

A—The deadline has been set for Aug. 1, 1944. This is the second extension that has been granted by the Veterans' Administration. You should file application for reinstatement immediately with Veterans' Bureau, Federal Building, plus payments for back premiums and slight interest charge.

Q—This question does not pertain to a veteran of this war, but of the last war. I enlisted from Massachusetts and served with the Yankee Division. Upon being discharged at Camp Devens I went out West. I learned later that the State of Massachusetts gave $100 bonuses to its sons who served in the war. I never made application for mine. If it is not too late, how should I go about getting it now.

A. D. E., Providence, R. I.

A—You are still entitled to the $100. Apply to the State Treasurer, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, State House, Boston, Mass. The unused balance of that fund is in custody of the treasurer. When writing, give details of enlistment, outfit and serial number.

Q—Is a member of the WAAC discharged honorably when that organization became a component part of the Army, eligible for vets' preference?

Mrs. L. C. B., Chelsea.

A—Not entitled to Federal Civil Service preference, but you will receive preference on examinations conducted by the State Civil Service Board.

Q—My daughter is a cadet nurse. Am I allowed to place a service flag in my window?

Mrs. A. S. E, Brookline.

A—Being a cadet nurse does not permit a service flag to be displayed. However, when she is sworn into the armed forces, then it is permissible.

Questions submitted to Veterans' Friend Editor will be answered in the columns of the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser. Address letter: Veterans' Friend, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston, Mass. Those desiring personal replies must enclose self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Cream Assures Graceful Throat Line

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

IT IS SO IMPORTANT to have a lovely throat . . . graciously poised . . . like the graceful stem of a fragile crystal glass . . . delicate yet firm . . . luxuriant and rich. Nothing gives a woman such stately carriage as a beautiful throat line. It gives her dignity and poise . . . lifts her face to the heavens in a "mistress of all I survey" kind of beauty.

Just as a woman's hands need the benefit of modern beauty science . . . so does your throat need a rich, specially formulated cream to soften it into firm loveliness. And, it is never too late to begin improving the throat line.

Regardless of the kind of neck you have . . . average, scrawny, or fleshy . . . one and the same throat treatment will work wonders beyond your fondest dreams and hopes. All your throat requires is the famous throat specialty of a noted beautician . . . a throat cream the color of apricot ice and with a little of the same cooling effect. For the best results . . . it is used with massage . . . either entirely removed or left on overnight.

MORE SWAN-LIKE

Try this routine and see for yourself how the connecting link between your face and your figure . . . the telltale link . . . can be made more beautiful and swan-like . . . and really make you a chin-up girl. Spread the cream generously over the palms of both hands and wait a few minutes until it is slightly warm. Place the right hand firmly on the left side of your chest and smooth it in with a long upward stroke up the left side of the neck and cupping the left jawbone. As you cup the jaw . . . hit your head strongly upward. Repeat the movement on the right side using your left hand.

RHYTHMIC COUNT

Do this for 10 times on each side of the throat . . . varying only by beginning with a circular pressing movement of the fingertips on the nerve center in the hollow under the collarbone. After one or two experiments . . . you'll develop a rhythmic count of your own for the massage . . . and your throat will benefit by it.

The name of this grand throat cream can be had by phoning the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or by writing me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

IT TAKES CARE . . . and certainly it is worth it . . . to look as alluring under the chin as above it . . . to look as appealingly youthful and lovely as Warner Star Lynn Baggett . . . whose face and throat are a symphony of femininity and beauty.

Fashion

STYLED WITH A SPANISH FLAVOR is this smart hat of black faille . . . fairly brimming over with high-style fashion. Trimmed with cap snood of varicolored roses . . . it is a stunning accent to Universal Star Maria Montez' chic costume . . . tilted, as it is, far over the right eye in flirtatious captivation.—R. M.

The Correct Thing

MANNERS HINT—When you take out your cigarettes, offer the pack to others present before taking a cigarette yourself.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

EN ROUTE, Thursday—An official trip has taken me over various parts of the United States during the past few days. The country we passed through first was, on the whole, very green and well cultivated. The farms were good farms, if not quite as large as some farther west.

One change which we noticed from the train, was the personnel in the railroad yards. There were many women in slacks, and they were not, as a rule, very young women. Middle-aged women, in ever increasing numbers, seem to be working in railroad yards and stations. I was surprised so few women were in the fields, but then I realized that, for the most part, I had also seen rather few men in the fields.

In towns and villages, as far as one can tell, the people look well dressed and well fed. There are few cars on country roads, but more than last year on the village and town streets. I think this nation is seriously at work, and that out of every family, all those who can work are doing something which brings in some cash at the present time.

* * *

I KEPT THINKING what I would want to do the very first thing after the war is over. As I look at the American scene, I think it would be to further new housing.

Taken by and large, this countryside one goes through still belongs essentially to a young country. It looks unfinished. There are many things that you can think of which you would like to do if you lived in this house, or on that road. Yet as you look out of the train window and think of the many other countrysides that our men will know before they come home, you cannot help feeling sure that they will be glad to see these towns and villages and these farms exactly as they left them.

Dormitory Ensemble
Tops for Work or Play

By BETTINA BEDWELL

ONE of the bright ideas from designers working for college girls is the new "dormitory ensemble." This is a workaday and play outfit. It is composed of a one-piece shorts and waist and a separate button-up skirt. The first version is for play, of course, and second for study and any other hard work you have to do around the campus.

Miss Dulin has sketched one of these models today. This one, as most of them are, is made of Jersey. The color is a soft violet, and it is trimmed with bands of braid woven in a flower pattern in various colors. The braid outlines the single breast pocket, and runs down the length of the short sleeves. It also makes the hem of the skirt.

Matching bone buttons fasten the one-piece shorts and the skirt.

Waffle Time

By MARTHA LEE

THERE'S NO NEED to be hot and bothered at mealtime if you make waffles the star performer on your summer menus.

Here's a dandy warm weather dessert: waffles topped with berries and creamy fluff whip. For the fluff whip topping beat two egg whites until stiff. Then beat in ½ cup of corn syrup slowly and continue beating until the mixture thickens. This makes a delicious alternate for whipped cream.

There's a fully-prepared mix on the market that makes delicious waffles in less time than it takes to tell. You just add water and bake—that's all.

WAFFLE-MAKING TIPS

For waffles so good they'll need no excuses we offer you these tips. First, keep your iron "in the pink" of condition; second, pour, don't spoon, the batter onto the grids. Taking care of the iron is as easy as ABC if you follow these rules:

1—Brush the baking surfaces with a wire or stiff brush. Never use soap and water.

2—Grease the baking surfaces thoroughly with shortening fat. Never use butter.

3—Heat waffle iron to baking temperature. Allow to cool. Then wipe off excess grease.

Pour the batter rapidly from the pitcher and close the iron at once to insure uniform baking and prevent sticking and breaking.

PLAIN WAFFLES

2 cups sifted flour
3 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1¼ cups milk
3 eggs, separated
¼ cup shortening, melted

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Combine well-beaten egg yolks and milk, and add to flour mixture, beating until smooth; add shortening and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in hot waffle iron. Makes 6 waffles.

Waffles With Berries and Cream

HAM WAFFLES

Sprinkle 2 tablespoons finely diced smoked ham, cooked or uncooked, over batter of each waffle before closing iron.

CHEESE WAFFLES

BLUEBERRY WAFFLES

Fold 1 cup washed and dried blueberries into the batter just before baking.

CHOCOLATE WAFFLES

2⅓ cups sifted cake flour
¼ tsp. baking powder
2 eggs, separated
⅛ tsp. salt
⅓ cup cocoa
⅓ cup sugar
¼ tsp. vanilla
1¼ cups milk
1-3 cup shortening, melted

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Combine well beaten egg yolks, milk and vanilla; add to flour mixture, beating until smooth; add shortening and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in hot waffle iron. Serve with whipped cream or ice cream as a dessert. Makes 10 waffles.

ORANGE WAFFLES

Add 2 teaspoons grated lemon or orange rind to egg yolk-milk mixture of plain waffle recipe. Serve with butter and orange or grapefruit marmalade, or top with ice cream and orange sauce. To serve with a fruit salad, substitute 3 tablespoons lemon or ½ cup orange juice for an equal quantity of milk.

Canning Season Is Close at Hand

By FOSTER WEISS

Head of Vegetable Market Garden Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School and Director of the Record-American-Advertiser Demonstration Garden on Boston Common.

The canning season soon will be here. Make your plans early.

Perhaps you are one of those who canned too much last year. If this be the case, govern accordingly. But don't lose sight of the fact that the Army is going to need plenty of supplies, and canned goods will come in handy at home this winter.

Labor shortages and difficulties in large canning areas are also cropping up. With these points in mind it may be well to plan a family canning budget.

WATER CAREFULLY

At present there are good supplies of native beans on the market. If you do not have enough in your own garden, now is the time to buy. This will not only give you the vegetables at a moderate price, but help to relieve the markets of excess products. Refer to our earlier article on canning beans.

There are a number of ways to water a garden but results. Methods used will depend to some extent on the crop being watered. Recently I suggested that tomatoes would develop less blossom end rot if watered thoroughly. The best way to water at this time of the year is to soak the ground between the rows. This keeps the foliage dry and aids in the control of blight.

Cucumbers and other vine crops also will resist diseases better if the foliage is kept dry.

Bacterial wilt still seems to be doing a lot of damage to squash and cucumbers. This disease seems worse this year than usual, due in most cases to the failure of gardeners to control the cucumber beetle. At present there is little that can be done if the disease has started. Make a note in your diary to start control for beetles earlier next year. At present remove all diseased plants and burn.

SEEK OUT BORERS

Weeds are still a problem in some gardens. I recently have seen several gardens that are being held back because of weeds. Let me suggest again that it costs money to grow weeds. They use up plant food and valuable moisture. Gardens are again in need of water in some sections, and weeds only make this condition more serious.

As suggested before, the corn borer will now start to cause some damage. In the early planting it may be light, but as the season advances it will get worse. Dusting or spraying the whorls may be of some value. There should be at least three applications. A spray of rotenone or cryolite may be used. If the tassel shows infestation, break it off and destroy the borer before it gets down into the stalk.

Paper Campaign Whirls to Finish

Boston's waste paper and tin salvage drive was set for a whirlwind finish today which salvage officials hope will establish a new monthly collection record.

With the drive ending today in the last four wards of the city, Salvage Director George G. Hyland appealed to residents and businessmen of Jamaica Plain, West Roxbury, Roslindale, Allston and Brighton to bundle and turn in every pound of scrap paper and tin in their possession.

Winners of yesterday's $25 war bonds were William Murray, of Boynton st., Jamaica Plain; Mrs. J. Herman, of Wainbeck st., Roxbury; Edward Hodon, of Merrill st., Dorchester, and Morris White, of Lucerne st., Dorchester.

COLLECTIONS TODAY—Boston, Wards 19-21 Belmont, curb paper and tin. Brockton, office cleanout. Revere, Ward 5, paper and tin.

Socialite's First Film

By BETTY ALDEN

BETWEEN GOING to the movies to see her son in his first picture and serving as chairman of St. John's Church Fair in Beverly Farms Thursday, July 27, Mrs. Nathaniel Simpkins is one of the busiest ladies on the North Shore.

She is the mother of Oliver Thorndike Simpkins (Oliver Thorndike is his stage name) who plays the role of a blind sailor in "Dr. Wassell."

MRS. JAMES H. GREW—vacations at Chatham.

Boston socialites have a right to be very proud of the handsome new movie actor from their ranks. He has won his way to Hollywood through hard work in Harvard dramatics, summer stock from Bass Rocks to Cohasset and several Broadway roles.

His mother has already seen his first picture half a dozen times and also the rushes of his second role as co-pilot of a bomber over Rome in the prologue of "Sign of the Cross." She went to Hollywood to visit him and had an exciting time watching the sequences being made and then seeing the results on the screen.

In Hyannis this week, Oliver's friends and relatives who summer on the Cape are packing the movie house where "Dr. Wassell" is playing. Among them are Mr. and Mrs. John Simpkins, his uncle and aunt, Joan, Mary and John Simpkins, Jr., cousins. Oliver was in Beverly Farms for a visit with his mother earlier this summer but has returned to Hollywood for more pictures.

Carle Music RKO Boston Hit

By HARRIS MORGAN

Frankie Carle, a neighbor from Providence, brings his band to Boston for the first time to head the new show at the RKO-Boston. Frankie's a personable lad, and he's got quite an outfit there. They open up the show with "Sunrise Serenade" to a big hand, and it keeps getting better and better, what with "Hindustan" and Lee Columbo giving out with "Amor."

And guess whom you'll meet up there this week! Homer Brown, who, you will remember, is Henry Aldrich's nemesis on your radio. Homer is really Jackie Kelk, and what he does to soap operas and "Sinatra, You Can't Do This to Me," is slightly terrific. A nice lad, Homer.

It's pleasant to welcome Buster Shaver back again, too, with Olive and George, those talented Lilliputians who can rhumba like Betty Hutton. Olive's Mae West is a classic, too.

Phyllis Lynne, petite, blonde and a charmer sings "Them There Eyes," and "G. I. Jive" to a great big hand, and Dick and Dot Remy turn in some comedy acrobatics that are tops. Neither of the two D's is on a diet, either.

Frank's "discovery," Paul Allen, rates the billing. What he does with "I Love You," (the Cole Porter one) and "I'll Be Seeing You," had the show stopped cold. He certainly looks photogenic, too.

Naturally, the highlight of the show is Mr. Carle's keyboard wizardry. That "Zigeuner" is something out of this world, and so is his medley of all the favorites you ever heard of, which called for a clever little impromptu curtain speech.

Angels Sans Haloes Give Met Patrons Merry Time

By JOYCE DANA

The cherubim and seraphim would break into the key of E flat at the Met, where "The Angels Sing" is a happy misnomer for the new picture.

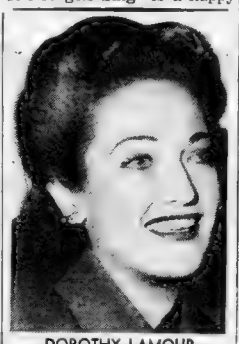
There aren't exactly any haloes around the starry foursome of harmonizers, because between the volatile Betty Hutton and Dot Lamour (not a sarong in sight), along with pink champagne and some vino Polonais and Fred MacMurray, these two angels came home a couple of times a little pixilated.

The other two Angel sisters are Diana Lynn, who's taking on star stature every minute, and Mimi Chandler. They all live with Pop Raymond Walburn in some place called Glenby, which seems to be conveniently located between Brooklyn and the Stork Club. The gals can sing, but they don't want to. Don't let that keep you worried, though, because they do.

Fred MacMurray is leading his band and playing the "sax" in their town, and with a line faster than Lockheed's assembly, gets away with their $190—intended for soy beans—and two proposals. Poor Freddie is pretty much in the middle. He loves Dot and Betty loves him, which, aside from being decidedly flattering, is enough to complicate any man's life.

There's plenty of unadulterated corn in this stock story, which has its bright moments here and there, particularly if you like little block-buster Betty in her rough and tumble (literally) scat routines.

The velvet-lidded Lamour sings languidly "It Could Happen to Diana has a few nice moments at You," and it probably could. Miss the piano, and Mr. Ripley should be paged to see Fred and Eddie Foy, Jr., do a Tyrolean number, edelweiss and all.



DOROTHY LAMOUR

Lots of elaborate production numbers, with "Hello Mary, How Does Your Garden Grow" topping them, but all in all, it's strictly a flimsy story and only for your hot weather entertainment.

Lamarr's Costumes Dazzling

The strong box-office combo of Lamarr-velous and William Powell will no doubt put "The Heavenly Body" up into the top wickets.

The fact that the story is as thin as marshmallow fluff, and even goo-ier, won't keep the devoted away from Loew's State. For this little opus from M-G-M, with a mile long credit list, is made for the marquees.

First of all, it marks Mr. Powell's return to the screen in a full-length picture after almost two years. Secondly, it presents the heady Hedy in a series of costumes that will leave husbands agasp and wives agog. She is, and this from the distaff side, an eyeful.

One discerning comrade in Remingtons wrote that he would have to go back and see the picture, because all he saw was Hedy.

However, since there must be a semblance of a plot, it seems that Mr. Powell is an astronomer, on the brink of discovering a new comet. He works nights. His wife, (the luscious Lamarr) believes in astrology, which has something to do with the stars in a less scientific way.

There's a new man to come into her life, astrologist Fay Bainter tells her. Well, he turns out to be air raid warden James Craig, and if you (or we) were Hedy, we'd take the Gable type Jimmy and leave Bill to his study of the astral regions.

However, you know Hollywood, and as hilarious as the whole thing sounds, it stretches for laughs, drags in the clinches, and aside from the fact that the stars are pleasant and are put through their paces smartly by director Alex Hall, it's just another escape from this world of harsh realities.

Henry O'Neill and Spring Byington do their best—and it's good—in minor roles.

All right Miss Lamarr, we'll settle for the air raid warden and you. Better luck in a star role next time. You, too, Mr. Thin Man.

Protest to Congress Over State Pay Rate

Massachusetts members of Congress today received protest over the reported denial of the annual step-rate wage increase to employes of the Massachusetts Division of Employment Security.

The protest came from William V. Ward, president of the Massachusetts Council, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, who blamed a drastic reduction in Federal allotments for inability to meet the raises.

$25,000 Mayflower In One Section

By JACK CONWAY

CHARLEY McLENNAN announced today that the $25,000 Mayflower Stakes at Suffolk Downs tomorrow afternoon will be run in one section rather than in two sections as planned earlier in the week. For a time it looked as if there would be 20 2-year-olds prepared to start in this 5½ furlongs dash. In such an event it would have been held in two sections with a $25,000 purse for each.

MISS PEG NOT TOUGH TO TAKE—Miss Peg, a $62.20 shot in the mutuels, closed fast on the outside to win the fourth race Thursday at Suffolk Downs over Patty Knot (1) and Snow Maid, coming up between horses from the rear. Jockey J. Littrell had the mount.

The Racing Commission was prepared to give Suffolk Downs an extra race tomorrow to offset the extra expense of a two section race. This will now not be necessary as McLennan says there will not be as many starters as expected. It will be possible to get all the horses entered off in one race.

C. McLennan

There will be $4000 for the owner of the horse that finishes second, $2000 for third and $1000 for fourth. There will also be $1000 for the breeder of the winner.

With so many rich stakes, owners of two-year olds have a chance to make money on their investments in horseflesh. The purse for the Mayflower Stakes was moved up from $15,000 to $25,000 this year.

President Gordon B. Hanlon of Suffolk Downs looks for a handle of more than $1,300,000 tomorrow. It will be the last chance to see

The entire profits of charity week at Suffolk Downs will be divided among the Red Cross, United War Fund which is associated with the Community Fund, and with the Disabled Veterans Fund of the American-Record-Sunday Advertiser.

Bruce Wetmore originally set $200,000 as the amount likely to be divided by these fine charities. The success of charity week, if maintained through Saturday, will push this figure past the $225,000 mark. It may even reach $250,000.

Praise for Babe

FRED LANE, able sports news editor, was unable to attend the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap owing to his duties in getting out the sports section. So he listened to Babe Rubenstein's broadcast of the race.

"Babe Rubenstein gave a perfect word picture of what happened in the race," said Lane. "He also proved himself a good reporter by getting Johnny Longden and other persons connected with the race on the air as soon as it was over. I also liked Frank Fallon's description of the color in connection with Suffolk Downs' big day."

"Babe" will also broadcast races at the Rockingham Park meeting that opens on next Monday. He will also be on the public address system at the New Hampshire track.

Charley Mungie, circulation director of these newspapers, says that the demand by newsdealers for copies of the Green Race Special indicates that the Rockingham Park meeting will be a big success.

ELIZABETH, aged 12 who is at Lake Placid, N. Y., for summer skating at the Olympic arena, has solved the paper shortage in a "I love you" note to her dad . . . She wrote it in ink on white birch bark which she peeled off a tree along the mountain side . . . American youth always finds a way.

Jack O'Brien and Eddie Mack are trying to match Manuel Ortiz with Phil Terranova . . . It would be a slam bang bout . . . Ortiz would find it easier to hit Terranova than he did to catch up with the elusive Willie Pep.

Braves On Real Upsurge

By BILL GRIMES

Upon his return from the last Western trip, during which his charges were on the winning end of only three games, Manager Bob Coleman predicted that the Braves would emerge from the cellar on this home stay.

We do not believe that Coleman figured that his boys would be out of eighth place in one week. But, that's exactly what they have done. They took two out of three from the Dodgers)and, but for one bad inning would have made a clean sweep of that series) and they have turned back the Cubs three in a row.

By virtue of taking five out of their last six games, the Colemen are now tied for sixth place with the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Chicago Cubs are back in last place.

During this home stay, the Braves have been winning the hard way. For years, the Braves rated with the best defensive clubs in the league but they were woefully weak offensively. Since they returned home, the Tribe has been pitiful afield, but have displayed considerable power with the willow.

They would have been sunk without a trace in both games yesterday, but for their ability to hit the offerings of Hank Wyse, Paul Derringer and Claude Passeau.

They got to Wyse and Derringer for 17 hits in the first game and then they jumped on Passeau for 12 more. They made five errors behind Jim Tobin in the opener which went 14 rounds. Then they had to come from behind in the nightcap.

Although Jim Tobin, Chuck Workman, "Butch" Nieman and Ira Hutchinson figured prominently in the double win, Connie Ryan was the star performer. "All Star" Connie connected with no less than six hits during the afternoon, along with accepting 21 chances without an error. And, it was Connie's timely single in the 9th inning of the second tilt that broke up that game.

The Braves and the Cubs will wind up their series this afternoon with a single game. Ben Cardoni will be Coleman's starting pitcher, while Manager Charlie Grimm will give the nod to Japhet Lynn. Lynn was to have reported to the Cubs last spring but he elected to remain on his job. He's a brakeman on the Santa Fe R. R. and this will be his first start for the North Side club.

Charged With Using Spitter

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Shades of 1920 descended on the current American League pennant race today as the old "spit ball" argument was dragged into the first place struggle between the St. Louis Browns and the New York Yankees.

Claiming that Pitcher Nelson Potter had been tossing "spitters," Umpire Cal Hubbard gave the Brownie starter the heave-ho in the fifth inning of a 0-0 ball game last night after a prolonged argument with Manager Luke Sewell that brought a shower of pop bottles and hats. Since 1920 all such freak deliveries have been banned except for a list of registered spitballers. Burleigh Grimes, who retired from the big show in 1934, was the last man on the list.

Two ex-Yankee farmhands made the St. Louis fans forget the "spitter" incident by smashing home runs in a 5-run seventh inning rally that gave the Browns a 7-3 victory and upped their lead to three full games.

Mike Chartak, who played most of the towns in the Yank circuit, clouted his as a pinch-hitter with two on, and Lefty McQuinn, who was New York property in the minors for seven years, hit the other with one one, dooming Hank Borowy.

Yank Terry to Face White Hose

Leave it to our Red Sox to come up with a honey. A natural 11 to 7 win over the Chicago White Sox yesterday. And there is not a crap shooter in or number pool player on the squad.

Our old friend Jacob Wade was in there long enough to say hello to his old teammates and then departed to the showers. They gathered six runs off Jake in the first two innings. Puzzle is how Wade got the ball so near those Red Sox bats for five hits in 1 1-3 innings.

Need Help!

U. S. War Veterans at the Bedford (Mass.) Hospital would like to sit in on a baseball game, some Saturday or Sunday afternoon in particular. If two teams would like to put on a game for the boys, managers should contact Miss Davis at the Recreation Office, U. S. Vets Hospital, Bedford, Mass., for further details on transportation, etc.

Braves Hop to 6th Spot in New Surge

The Braves didn't do right by Jim Tobin yesterday or he'd have turned in another shutout, instead of going 14 innings to beat the Cubs 5 to 4 for his eleventh win of the season . . . In the fourth, the Cubs scored three unearned runs on three errors and one hit . . . Although Ab Wright allowed two runs to cross the plate, when he dropped Andy Pafko's fly, it was the infield that did Tobe dirt.

With the exception of Connie Ryan and Phil Masi, none of the other inner guardsmen stayed with Old Jim . . . "Whitey" Wietelmann and Dee Phillips were charged with two errors each and Max Macon's inability to keep off line throws from getting away from him didn't help matters.

But for the fact that Tobin is one of the most dangerous pitchers in the game, the Braves would have had their ears knocked off in the opening contest yesterday . . . In the face of the poorest support he has received this season, Tobin refused to quit and Chuck Workman's hit in the 14th inning broke up the game.

Jimmy Foxx, old Double X himself, will never come closer to getting "beaned" with line drives than yesterday, when two whistled by his head . . . One was off Bill Nicholson's bat, which was traveling at terrific speed . . . Although Ryan, Macon and Holmes singled, only four Braves went to bat in the first inning of the opening game . . . Macon was out trying to go from first to third on Holmes' hit and Ab Wright hit into a "D.P."

GRIMM'S GREAT STRATEGY

Charlie Grimm is so thoroughly sold on walking the batter with men on second and third and first base open, that he ordered Hank Wyse to pass "Whitey" Wietelmann and pitch to Tobin, who hit a long fly to Andy Pafke to score "Butch" . . . The Braves did an awful job on Tobin in the fourth . . . With one down, "Whitey" tried to take Johnson's grounder on a short hop and missed it . . . Then Dee Phillips' throw faded away from Max Macon, allowing Johnson to cross the plate with the first Cub run . . . With the bases bases loaded, Andy Pafko hoisted a routine fly to Ab Wright who dropped the ball and two more tallies went in . . . So, the Cubs scored three runs on one hit and three "boots" . . . Phil Cavarretta and Don Johnson collided going after Connie Ryan's foul in the 6th and the Cubs' first sacker took a long count, but remained on duty . . . A well executed hit and run play paved the way for the Braves to tie the count in the 6th.

Tobin "started" Wietelmann, who had singled, and then shot a hit to right, sending "Whitey" to third, from where he scored on Ryan's fly to Dom Dallessandro . . . Bill Nicholson is playing with an injured thumb . . . "Butch" Nieman's ninth home run was as well stroked as any one he had hit since he joined the Braves . . . It went over the right center field fence with plenty to spare . . . Ryan tried to pull the "hidden" ball trick on Andy Pafko in the seventh but the Cub outfielder was standing on the bag .

Ryan and Don Johnson turned in stellar performances in the opener . . . "All Star" Connie, who will report to the U. S. Navy at 7:30 next Tuesday morning accepted 12 chances without a slip and Johnson had five putouts and nine assists.

SIGHTS ARE SET. Three good reasons why the St. Louis Cardinals are 13 games in front of the National League race are Stan Musial, Manager Billy Southworth and Johnnie Hopp, in the dug-out at the Polo Grounds, New York. Musial, leading the league in batting with a .354 mark, and Hopp, in second place with .325, hoped to fatten their averages on this Eastern swing.

Wakefield Sparks Sogging Bengals

DETROIT, July 21 (AP)—Dick Wakefield is playing on borrowed time these days, but his booming bat is making the Detroit Tigers look fearsome in the American League race.

WAKEFIELD, 23-year-old outfielder who is awaiting a return to the nation's armed forces, has a .333 batting average in the nine games since he saw honorably discharged as a naval aviation cadet. He has driven in ten runs with 12 hits.

"I'm expecting to hear from my draft board almost any day, and I have applied for a Navy commission," said the strapping former University of Michigan athlete today. "But while I'm waiting I'll get all the hits I can."

Wakefield accumulated an even 200 hits last season while finishing second to Luke Appling of Chicago for the league batting title. The year before he won the Texas League title at Beaumont.

Before Wakefield arrived, the Tigers were catalogued as a reasonably good pitching and fielding team with little batting punch. The pitching staff is largely Hal Newhouser and Paul Trout, producers of 14 and 12 victories, respectively.

Rudy York, the 1943 major league home run champion, wasn't having a good year, but Wakefield's presence seems to have aroused something in the big first baseman.

In other words, as long as Wakefield is around, the Tigers appear to have one-two pitching and one-two batting, a combination that may be exceedingly menacing in the league's stretch drive.

Lindskog on "ALL" Team Second Year

CHICAGO, July 21 (AP)—For the second consecutive year, Vic Lindskog, center and captain of Stanford's 1941 Pacific Coast Conference football champions, will be a member of the All-Star grid team picked to play the National League titleholders.

Lindskog, a member of the 1943 All-Star eleven which defeated the Washington Redskins, has been named to play against the Chicago Bears in the All-Star game on Aug. 30. Also named to the All-Star squad was Billy Reinhard of the University of California.

Schmeling Reported Dead

LONDON, July 21 (INS)—A Reuters dispatch from First U. S. Army headquarters in Normandy said today that it was "rumored" that a dead German soldier had been identified as the former world heavyweight boxing champion, Max Schmeling.

The dead German, identified as a member of a Nazi parachute regiment, was reported to have been carrying a passbook with the name "Max Schmeling" in it.

According to soldiers who found the body, the man had been dead for about two days. A high-ranking American officer said that all bodies were so badly deteroriated that identification was impossible.

Reese Applies For Dodger Job

BROOKLYN, July 21 (AP)—Just before the Dodgers went out to take a 6-0 thumping from the Cincinnati Reds yesterday, a nurse who recently returned from Hawaii stoped at the clubhouse to deliver a message. "There's a boy out there who wants to know if you could use him at shortstop," she said. "He says his name is Peewee Reese."

Hicks Is Ready For Navy Boys

The Titans of the Park League, the Navy Yard A. A., travel out to Draper Field tonight to meet the revamped Hicks Engineering and for once will have to watch their step.

The Hicks team has finally hit its stride and pulled out of the cellar and right now is a dangerous opponent for any team in the league.

Mgr. George Kamp has found the right combination and although the Engineers haven't been world beaters, they have come along fast and right now have the pitching to stop the Navy's big guns.

In the other games scheduled tonight West Roxbury tackles third place Linehan Club at Columbus Park and Lawley's play the Watertown Arsenal at Healy Field.

West Roxbury has just finished a three-game series with Hicks in which each team won once and tied the third and is more potent than its standing in the loop would indicate.

Twilight Tear Out to Make Track History

CHICAGO, July 21 (AP)—Entering tomorrow's $80,600 Arlington classic with 10 successive victories this season, the Calumet Farm's great filly, Twilight Tear, will be shooting for a record believed unequaled among her sex in the history of the American turf—11 straight wins.

Her chief and probably only real competition is expected to come from her stablemate, Pensive, beaten three times since he won the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness.

Goldsmith Stakes Old Orchard Feature

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., July 21 (AP)—The Goldsmith Maid Stake, with seven starters vieing for a $4607.50 purse, was the main attraction of today's Grand Circuit harness racing on the kite strip.

Among the entries for the one-heat race were Phonograph, one of the top 3-year-olds of 1943; Scotland's Comet, which won the $6000 trotting Derby at last year's Grand Circuit meet here, and Colby Hanover, which has a record of less than two minutes.

Expect Large Field at 'Rock'

SALEM, N. H., July 21—Big fields, eight times an afternoon, are expected to be the order of the day when Rockingham Park starts its 18-day summer meeting next Monday.

The opening day card of Racing Secretary John P. Turner, if it can be filled, will be perhaps the finest weekday card of the entire New England season.

It includes the Bristol, an allowance affair at six furlongs for a purse of $1900; the Alton, a claiming race for thoroughbreds in the $5000 top and $4500 bottom brackets at a mile and one-sixteenth; and a claimer for horses in the $4000-$3500 brigade at six furlongs.

It is the unanimous opinion of such horsemen as the veteran Robby Robertson, the well-known Frank Christmas, Sid Bernstein of Lowell, and scores more already on the premises that every race on the card will be filled to the limit with keen, well-matched horses.

Fully 175 thoroughbreds, all o them shipped here directly fror fashionable Delaware Park, have been training daily for the past three weeks, getting ready for mass assault on a purse total of $230,000 and trainer's awards of $14,400, richest in the 12 year history of the little track with th big ideas.
